OUR UNFAIR REPRESENTATION

The basis of good government is fair representation. Without fair representation the fundamental principle of honest government does not prevail. And this is the condition which the electors of British Columbia find themselves in today. During the provincial session just closed we find the present factional government wrestling with many questions of more or less importance; but in no way are we led to believe that so soon as the result of the census is known a redistribution bill, granting the mainland equal representation, will be brought forward. It is not more representatives we want, but fair representation at the capital. At the present time one vote cast on the island is equal to eight cast in the interior. The EAGLE asks in all earnestness, how can we expect any measure of fairness while so many people are practically disfranchised? If the island members see fit to further tax the industries of the Kootenays, and otherwise hamper our progress by not becoming alive to the situation, we must certainly take our medicine until such times as we are placed upon an equal voting basis with favored constituencies. Take away fair representation and the possibility for a fair deal vanishes. But surely the electors of the mainland will not tolerate the present conditions until the present government has outlived its full term, if that is possible under any circumstances.

Here we have railways which should be built, refineries which should be established at once, smelters which should be operated by the government, fisheries which should be taken over by the people; a minimum wage law is wanted without delay; and the EAGLE might go on enumerating important legislation which is simply ignored by an incapable government. And the first and only step towards a betterment or realization of the items quoted above is fair representation. Without this we are helpless, dominated and dictated to at leisure by the mossback element of the province. All other "issues" are but scarecrows in comparison to equal representation. The MAN who will formulate a party with this non-political theme as his one and only platform, agreeing to meet in the house, keep in progress the wheels of government, pass a fair redistribution bill, and then go to the country, is the man that nearly every elector on the mainland is looking for. It comes high, but the fundamental principle of good government is cheap at any price. We are sick and tired of the present bunch of incapables, drawing salary at Victoria. They are quite unequal to the progress of the country, and not far-seeing enough to meet the new conditions arising in this trusty age, with all our wealth being centralized in the hands of a few. Now is the time for a body of capable representatives to grasp the situation and meet it like men. Our natural resources must be nourished by all the people, or a few years hence will see us all in the clutch of a Pierpont Morgan. But who will act? On the pedestal throne our present legislators sit, with one hand in the treasury and the other extending the glad hand to the innocent elector. And there you are. The people who would change this condition of affairs and rise to the occasion are at present "siwashied." The question is, how long will we stand for it?

WINGLETS.

Good wages promote good feeling between employer and employee; good feeling begets faithful service on the part of the latter, and that insures business success to the former. The keynote of unionism is good wages.

The Kootenay Mail may be an authority on W. C. Wells, M. P., chief commissioner of lands and works, but its own Lardeau mining news concerning alleged sales is quite unreliable. The owners of property, residents of Ferguson, deny that the sale reported by the Mail last issue, with a flare head, is based on facts. When a mining deal goes through the owners' bank account is one of the first chronometers indicating the fact, and so far there has been no register.

Now that the C. P. R. have decided, after getting everything in sight as a bonus, to build into the Trout lake valley, there is evidence to show that Jim Hill will make a move this season up the Duncan river valley, just across the summit from here. If this is the case it would mean the opening up of an immense area of well mineralized country, and also provide a natural outlet for many properties already well known, at present operated from this side. The upper Lardo-Duncan district will some day be equal to any mining section in the province. All it lacks, as has been the case here, is transportation, and the capital which will consequently follow.

The woman with the experience of many years has found life to be a very different thing from what it seemed in her girlhood and early womanhood. And though many pleasant memories may cluster around those early days, she has little desire to go back to the immature years, for she now lives in a world so much larger than formerly. There is still so much to enjoy. She is not old, if no longer young. She has reached the prime of her life when all her powers are or should be at their very best. If marriage has come to her she realizes what a grand thing it is to be a real home-maker, to help upward and onward the young lives that may be growing up around her. And in no more pleasant way can she live over again the days of her early youth than in taking a deep interest in the work and play of her children, directing and shielding them as none but a wise mother can do. If home-making and its cares have not come to her she has no cause for grieving. Her life may still be a very full one, so many avenues are open to women at the present day. The limits and restrictions that once hampered the single woman have no longer to be combated. She is free to carry out her own plans and to take her place with the world's workers, happy in the knowledge that she is not a superfluous being, but that she can be of use to others, and that the world has need of her.

Fergusonites are of the opinion that a sidewalk extension from the east end as far west as the Windsor hotel would materially increase their conveniences, and are now taking steps to that end. The government are very good at collecting taxes upon Ferguson real estate, but rather slow in returning any of it towards improving local conditions, with the result that we have no street improvements, no sidewalks, no fire protection; nothing but the privilege of donating to the government exchequer.

That socialism will surely be the direct result of the centralizing operations of the trusts, and that this will be just and right in view of the impoverishment of the people by trust methods, was calmly stated at the April meeting of the New York Methodist conference, according to some of our New York exchanges, by the presiding elder, Rev. Dr. Joseph Pullman. Not a voice was raised in dissent, but many a head was nodded in approval. Dr. Pullman made a report showing the evil effect of trusts on the church. Frequently, he said, the whole working population on whom a church depends for support are thrown out of employment by the forming of a trust, which closes down their factory. He also said that selfishness, rather than the people's needs, governed the actions of industrial corporations. After the meeting he made this explanation: "In Newtown, Conn., the rubber trust gobbled up a rubber factory which supported a Methodist church, taking their works to the flats of Jersey, where the corporations, like ancient conquerors, set their boundaries wherever they will and disdain to regulate output to suit the needs of the commonwealth. These new conquerors are inspired by desire for gain only. There will be no commonwealth very soon. The commonwealth will be a farcical expression if we go on at the present rate. It will soon be concentrated wealth, all owned by a few. Socialism is inevitable. It is the industrial movement of the world. It is the certain result of the trust tendencies of the present."

The steel trust is dismantling all the small plants in the country and concentrating all work in a few places. Many hundreds of towns will be ruined, but what's the difference? Don't the people like the system? Survival of the fittest, you know. The people of small manufacturing towns are not fit to survive, hence all their anguish. So it is?—Appeal.

SCREAMLETS

The man with a new idea is a crank until the idea succeeds.

The new editor of the Rossland Miner can fill as much editorial space and say as little as any pen wielder the EAGLE knows of.

If you desire to find out where your friends are just go broke for a few weeks and endeavor to tap them off for a five-spot. Oh! that awful stare.

What have you ever done towards assisting your local newspaper to bring the district's natural resources to the attention of the outside world or to "pay the printer"?

Too many prospectors are prone to give the newspaper man a long-armed jolly about their properties, but a suggestion that it takes money to pay the printer only elicits the finger.

Kind providence may help a Chinaman to make his way into the Lardeau; but on the principle that God helps those who help themselves, Lardeauites will win out, for Chinamen are barred in this camp.

Wm. Baty: Oh! you don't pay your old debts then; that's the way you manage it? But goddamn hell, what do you do about your new debts?
Jim Graham: "Ough! I just let them stand until they get old too."

Never before has so much attention been given by the daily press to reports of industrial warfare. It will be worse before it's better, as too many people cannot take a tumble until they go up against a brick wall.

"You may talk about your pay roll as you please," said a public spirited suburbanite, "but our town is all right. Why look at our remarkably low death rate. That's an argument."

"Yes, that's an argument," interrupted the caustic pay roll centre man. "It shows how very few people would care to be found dead there."

The EAGLE's ozone artist has been victimized by editor Simpson of the Cranbrook Herald, by the assertion that he had advertised money to loan. This is surely a case of mistaken identity. We have been accused of almost everything, and called names ranging from a gentleman to a horse thief; but this, brother Simpson, is the "most cruellest blow of all."

A newspaper man who cannot stand for the abuse and backslapping of the entire community, and not-support from men who do the most kicking and the least to help their town's criterion in the outside world, need not pitch his tent in the Kootenays. Abuse is but the barometer of the good a newspaper is doing. The more abuse by the disgruntled the more effective has been the work done.

The sketch here shown to the left is no less a personage than our own Jimmy Snell. This is a snap shot taken by the EAGLE artist before the editor let a five pound dumb bell fall upon his toes, during a local jumping contest yesterday afternoon. The right hand scene shows Mr. Snell on his way to the Lake.

The EAGLE has an idea that there will be a large floating population very soon in a local health and pleasure resort, situated amidst ravishing scenery where weary and toil-worn mortals from the hot and crowded pay roll centre may bask to their heart's content in the light of the Creator's most sublime handwork, if the present hot flagstaff may be required. Even that 12 1/2 ft. weather continues. The EAGLE cartoonist has handed us a touching scene, entitled "the closing days of the flood," or "the last grand rush for the flag pole," which we here produce for the first time:

The Silver Cup, Triune, Cromwell, Lucky Jim, Nettie L., Maybe, Metropolitan, Old Gold camp, and Great Northern hill, along with scores of properties in the prospect stage, will make Ferguson the biggest and best mining town in this province.
Ferguson is so located at the base of the Great Northern hill to the north, the Nettie L. to the east, and the Triune-Silver Cup hill to the south, that it at once becomes the natural supply and pay roll centre.
The C. P. R. Lardeau branch is now on the way, and must soon come after Lardeau's ore. When it reaches the ore it will reach Ferguson.
Investigation is courted from the many who will soon take up their abode in the now famous Lardeau district — the land of high grade ores.
A new and complete townsite map now being prepared by A. P. Cummins, C. E., P. L. S.
No town in the district has made such rapid local progress as Ferguson.
Mining men engage their crews at Ferguson, and pay them off in Ferguson.
Ferguson receives the pay roll benefit from all the shipping mines.

On the Wing Items

The Dominion house prorogued on the 23rd.

John D. Sibbald, of Revelstoke, was in town on Saturday.

County court at Revelstoke has been adjourned until June 12th.

Arthur Evans and Fred Disjardine returned from Revelstoke on Tuesday.

Messrs. McKinnon & Sutherland, general merchants, have installed in their office a handsome safe.

S. Shannon, B. A., left for the east on Saturday evening. He expects to return in about three weeks.

W. H. Howard has completed his assessment work on the Idle Hour group, located on Nettie L. Hill.

A man about town without a pocket specimen of free-milling ore is entirely out of fashion these hot summer days.

The Dominion supplemental supplementary estimates brought the total expenditures for the next fiscal year up to $80,008,540.

Jimmy Dimmick went to the Lardau country on Monday last. Jimmy says that this is the year he makes his stake.—Paystreak.

Thos. Taylor, M. P. P., was in town again on Saturday last. He expects to see work commenced on the roads and trails in a few days now.

* Special attention is directed to Andrew F. Rosenberg's advt. in this issue. No stock to sell! strict legitimate mining properties placed.

The health officer for the district has issued instructions to policeman Soell to see that all the back yards in town are cleaned up and disinfected.

The slip which has been constructed at the shipyards here for the Lardo wharf was taken to its destination yesterday by the tug Proctor.—Nelson Miner.

* It's not too late to plant a flower garden or sow lawn grass seed. Write to the Canada Drug & Book Co., Revelstoke, B. C., at once. Mail orders a specialty.

Notwithstanding that six four-horse teams are plying between here and the Landing, there seems to be a constant wait for freight in the place where the mines are.

"Have you got any — in yet?" "No, but it's down at the Landing. I expect it in before the railway comes through," is a dialogue often heard in Ferguson these days.

E. W. B. Paget, transfer agent, Revelstoke, was in town on Monday, having spent a few days sizing up the district just for the purpose of satisfying his own curiosity. Mr. Paget had a hile along, quite a novelty in the Lardeau, but he says the road is no cinder path.

The construction of the Lardeau railway means an expenditure of over a quarter of a million dollars for wages alone. The bulk of this money will be spent in Kaslo and Nelson, which will help to make the people of these two towns contented and happy.—Nelson Tribune.

J. H. Currie, postmaster at Trout Lake and the ruling spirit of a local newspaper, was defeated by D. L. Clink in a recent school trustee election. Mr. Currie withheld his from his net sheet for a couple of weeks; but then he is an authority on "small potatoes," as was evidenced by an imaginary conversation with the post office inspector not long ago.

On May 31st and June 8th agents of the Canadian Pacific railway at Kootenay common points will issue round-trip tickets to St. Paul at $90, good for sixty days, with corresponding reductions to all eastern points from all stations. For the Pan-American exhibition tickets will be sold June 4th and 18th, July 2nd and 16th, and August 6th and 20th to Buffalo at $70. Full particulars from local agents.

Said a Trout Lake family man to the EAGLE the other day: "A young lady visited my house the other evening, and I fear she will never return. I was reading a paper, and the conversation among the members of my family and their fair visitor turned upon snoring. My oldest daughter said: 'If you want to hear anyone snore, you ought to sleep with my sister.' Then my youngest boy opened his mouth, and I knew there was trouble brewing. He said: 'Oh, feel if you want to hear anybody snore, you ought to sleep with papa.'"

The Phoenix men who were recently arrested for assisting a Chinaman to leave that risqué city have been acquitted.

It girls had less of a smattering of high-sounding knowledge, and were better grounded in the practical lessons of living, it would be infinitely better for their future happiness.—June Ladies' Home Journal.

Garden stuffs are making good headway in Ferguson. The tremendous growth of Roxie Scott's is well nigh deafening; enough, in fact, to keep Roxie awake nights—keeping the boys away from the radishes.
