

THE LARDEAU EAGLE.

VOL. III. NO. 45.

FERGUSON, BRITISH COLUMBIA, DECEMBER 19, 1901.

$2.00 A YEAR.

VULCAN FURNACE

The Plant Has Already Been Shipped From San Francisco.

CONSTRUCTION BEING PUSHED

And Soon Everything Will be Ready For the Reception of the Machinery.

COMPANY WILL BUY THE ORE

Naturally Lardeausites are interested in the construction and progress of the Vulcan furnace which is now being built in Ferguson. Being as anxious as any of our readers the EAGLE visited the smelter site, on the east end of the townsite, on Monday. Men are busily engaged in the excavation work, and already the foundation posts are in place. The local saw mill is now turning out the lumber order, and the frame work will be begun this week. The working force will be enlarged, but there are plenty of men on the spot to do the work.

On Tuesday the EAGLE saw Mr. Wood, who is in charge of the work, and in answer to enquiries received the following reply: "I received a letter from Mr. McCrossan, who is still in Frisco, last night, dated December 9th, and he informs me that the smelter plant has been shipped, and that he is also shipping to Ferguson a crusher, engine, and 50-horse power boiler."

"Do you know, Mr. Wood, what bid Mr. McCrossan intends to make for ore which is apparently billed for the Trail smelter already?" asked the EAGLE.

"Well," replied Mr. Wood, "Mr. McCrossan mentioned in his letter to me that he preferred, for the present, to accept ore for treatment by the ton, but that he would pay as much for ore as the Trail smelter does delivered at Trail, less $5 a ton, a deduction which he deems necessary for the extra expense of treatment here. In fact, Mr. McCrossan has authorized me to make arrangements for all ore that may be delivered by Jan. 15th on these terms."

"Mr. McCrossan intends installing another plant at Trout Lake, does he not, Mr. Wood?"

"It is more than probable, as Mr. McCrossan tells me that he has just contracted for another plant, to be delivered at Arrowhead not later than April 1st."

Mr. McCrossan is expected in Ferguson just after the New Year, and with him will arrive the smelter manager, operator and staff. And as soon as the sampler and other necessary arrangements are in order, ore buying and treatment will begin. Whether the ore being shipped at present is held here or not there will be plenty mined at the Nettie L. mine alone to keep the plant going until others can join the shipping list.

Tests of Lardeau ore have already been made in San Francisco, with most successful and gratifying results.

From Mr. McCrossan's remarks, it would appear that the capacity of the Ferguson plant will be more than 20 tons a day.

Mining Tunnels.

The longest mining tunnels projected and in the course of actual construction are very largely in Colorado. These are being run to or across single mountains and ranges containing a large number of ore-bearing ridges. These ledges are being intersected at depths far below what would be economically profitable by shaft mining. In addition to the great depths of backs over the floor level that these tunnels open, they can, when these upper ore bodies are more or less worked out, be utilized as surface from which to sink to depths beneath. To a tunnel and the open benches at one offer exceptional advantages for this sort of deep mining. By provision therefore, the water that flows in to the overhead workings can be well acted there and conducted down to the tunnel level in pipes under pressure, which can there be utilized for power development. Practically, this costs the minimum in the way of investment, and being possible of use direct, can provide the maximum of effective work from the theoretical efficiency. It is safe to say that 70 per cent. of the theoretical water power can be had in work. Under average conditions, more water will reach 100-foot depth of workings above the tunnel levels than below. The power, then, that can be developed from the flowing water above will perform the service of lifting of the lesser quantity of water coming in workings below to a depth very nearly, if not entirely, equal to the feet of head of the power water. With these practical working conditions the tunnel exploitations of ledge deposits in Colorado means cheap deep mining to depths that are unthinkable with dependence solely on shafts from the surface. The deep mining so affected may not be as spectacular as the deep-shaft mining projected in the Transvaal, but it has the more satisfying quality of a safer and larger profit margin.

An Independent Butcher Shop.

Some weeks ago the EAGLE informed the Pat Burns meat store that Ferguson must have a butcher shop, a request which was politely ignored. This week, however, the EAGLE can announce the establishment of an independent shop in this rising centre. And under such auspices as to render it quite capable of doing business when Mr. Burns' meat store appears on the scene. Mr. Woodward is the manager in charge. Mr. Woodward has opened temporarily in the Humer building, one door east of the Hotel Lardeau. He has a large supply of beef, pork, mutton, poultry, fish, oysters, and everything which goes to make up a first class butcher's shop, on the way, to be here for Christmas. The value of this shop will be appreciated by the residents of this town since the camp's experience with Mr. Burns has been anything but satiate story.

New It's a Zinc Smelting Combine.

The American Metal Market of New York says that details of the plan to consolidate the large zinc smelting companies in the west have just leaked out. It is reported that options have been secured on all of the plants mentioned, and E. Hollins Morse and Bro., of 6 Wall street, New York, are endeavoring to conclude the details of the consolidation. The company is to be known as the Zinc Smelting Corporation. This company was organized under the laws of the State of New Jersey with a capital of $20,000,000 divided into 8,500,000 of 70 per cent. cumulative stock, and $25,000,000 of common stock. Five million dollars each of the preferred and common stock are to be reserved for the acquisition of properties in addition to those already contracted for and for other corporate purposes.—Los Angeles Mining Review.

Producers of Wealth Die at Their Post.

A report from Monterey, Mex., states that workmen employed in the Vidra mine, near that city, found the skeletons of fifteen men in a tunnel they were opening up. Alongside of the skeletons were a lot of ancient mining tools. The report further states that piled up by the cavern were more than two cartloads of hard silver and galena, with the silver, all of great richness. The old Spanish records show that this mine was worked more than 200 years ago and the skeletons are of miners who were supposed to have been suffocated by a cave-in.

Perfect by Socialism.

The leading hardware interests of the city of Chicago have been offered $20,000,000 for their properties by the National Hardware company, the $100,000,000 combine now forming. Agents of the combine declare they have received a sufficient assurance from hardware interests to assure the success of the enterprise in Chicago.

Looks Good For Tet A Jean Cakes Country.

The Scientific American says there is a large and increasing consumption of mica in the United States. Clear sheets 4 by 4 inches in size and upwards must be provided for the mica to be worth a good price.

A QUIET WEEK

The Silver-Lead Slump Forms the Chief Topic For Discussion.

NO CHANGE AT THE MINES YET

Thought That Mine Owners Will Co Operate to Meet and Better Prevailing Conditions.

WILL THE GOVERNMENT ACT?

The past week in this camp has been a quiet one. No particular evidence of the Christmas season is observable, the considerable social amusement has been provided for both in Ferguson and Trout Lake. The rawhidlers are busy. Nettie L. ore is now coming from the mine over the new road on sleighs, a big improvement over the old method. The ore piles on Victoria avenue are growing larger daily. The Cup ore is hauled from 8-mile to Batsy's awaiting more snow, an unusual delay at this advanced time of the year. The Black Warrior crew will be down on Monday for a week. They will increase their forces and so up for two months after New Years. The men from the Old Gold camp will also be down for the holiday week. The Cup will close for a couple of days, but the Nettie L. will only lose one shift.

Of course the chief discussion in the camp for the past week has been the silver-lead fluctuations and general tumble down the line. But of this the EAGLE can say very little. The trusts have it in their power, seemingly, to twist and mould us into any old shape, so that in the absence of a live lot of mining men or a government that will out to business itself, we must await our fate in silence. There is one thing certain, however, the Lardeau mines can do business at a profit when many other camps must close up shop. And Lardeausites are not going to throw up the sponge by a long shot.

Boquets for Lardeau and the New Map.

Speaking of the Lardeau district, and the new map, the London News says: The map, which is compiled by S. Shannon and A. P. Cummins of Ferguson, B. C., is very complete and shows the location of the properties and their position as regards transportation very clearly. To those who have not seen a map of the district it is a revelation, as many people think that the Rossland district is British Columbia, as far as mining is concerned. As a matter of fact Lardeausites claim that their district can give Rossland cards and spades and then whip it badly in ore values.

Pitblende.

The following interesting notes on this mineral is given by J. S. Randall, in the Georgetown, Colorado, Courier: Of the many mineral species that go to make up this earth of ours, the most singular and complex is the mineral pitchblende, or as it is more commonly called, pitchblende. It occurs in a number of mines in Gilpin county, and at one time quite a large amount of it was discovered in the Jo Reynolds mine in this county. The mineral is black, heavy and sometimes has a sub-metallic or pitch-like lustre. It is composed principally of the rare elements uranium, thorium, cerium, lanthanum and yttrium, along with lead, iron, calcium, nitrogen, and some other substances as yet little understood which give forth perpetual light. It is a remarkable fact that it is the only known mineral containing uranium, but still more remarkable is the fact that it contains three substances called polonium, radium and actinium, which are now astonishing the scientific world. These substances partake of the properties of the radioactive X-rays, and spontaneously generate electricity. In the laboratory of physics they upset all the apparatus. They are spontaneously luminous without undergoing any transformation. The walls of a room built with this radioactive material would be eternally lighted without combustion. Anyone carrying in his pocket a few grains of the substance would be able to produce all kinds of radiographs. With a sensitive plate he would be able to read through solid bodies, as it has been demonstrated that the rays can penetrate through an inch of metal. The price of these substances owing to the difficulty of their production, practically annihilates their industrial value at present. But in time they may be produced as cheaply as alumina, which not so many years ago was a most expensive metal.

Government Will Aid Consumptives.

The EAGLE is in receipt of a circular from the secretary of the provincial board of health, Charles J. Fagan, giving many valuable suggestions re tuberculosis, and suggestions to those suffering from the terrible destroyer of life. In fact, the EAGLE is pleased to announce, Mr. Fagan says: "The Attorney General directs me to announce that the Government Bacteriological Laboratory is at the disposal of all sufferers. Therefore, persons suspected to be suffering from tuberculosis can have their sputum examined at the laboratory free of charge. The early moving of sputum may be sent in small, wide-necked, clean, dry bottles, and well corked, together with a full history of the case. It is preferable to act through your doctor."

A Very Natural Assumption.

According to director Frecheville's report, ex-manager McDonald's reports on the amount of ore in sight in the Le Roi mine at Rossland should be discounted 66 to 73 per cent, and the amount the mine earned for the last fiscal year should be reduced on just the same basis. If Mr. McDonald was so far astray in regard to the ore in sight and the mine's earnings, it is not unfair to assume he was equally as far astray in his reports regarding the demands of the striking miners at Rossland and striking smelter workers at Northport.—Tribune

And Don't Overlook the Lardeau.

The Stocan has no less than fifty shipping mines, a record not equalled by any other mining district of the same area in America. None of the fifty produce gold ore: all are silver-lead mines. Silver and lead are both falling in price, yet the Stocan is the one quartz mining district in British Columbia that manages to enrich a few prospectors and mine owners every year, besides paying mine workers standard wages without strikes or lockouts.—Tribune

Socialists Are Not Pay-Dreaming.

Any working man, imbued more or less with socialistic ideas, is badly mistaken who fancies that all he has got to do is to do his work and draw his wages and put his money in a house and lo or push it across the bar as the case may be and then hankey pankey, hey presto pass, all of a sudden he will wake up one fine morning and see in the papers that the socialistic era has dawned.—Revelstoke Herald.

Pastime For Christmas Eve.

Don't forget the Christmas tree entertainment next Tuesday evening in Ferguson. A splendid program has been arranged. Anyone desiring to place Christmas gifts on the tree can hand them to one of the committee on Tuesday. There will be no admission fee, but a collection will be taken up. Come yourself and bring your friends.

Serving a Miserable Master.

The editor of the Rossland Miner swells up his chest, and in double-leaded type, gives us "proof of prosperity." Horrors! And this in the Miner too. The same editor may require "proof" a year hence, or even a meal to keep his sides from rubbing. Even now he has a dirtier job than any piano-thumper would stoop to.

As Viewed at Grand Forks.

Socialism is not so much of a "boto not" as formerly. The world is coming to understand it as "government by the people," instead of by individuals, as is now the case in British Columbia.—Grand Forks Sun.

DIVIDENDS NEXT

The Gross Ore Output of the Nettie L. Mine is 800 Tons.

$63,380 IN PROCEEDS TO DATE

Nearly $45,000 Has Already Been Expended by the Company in Development Work.

NEXT WILL COME DIVIDENDS

The EAGLE is in a position this week to give to its readers, exclusively, the exact total output of ore shipped from the Nettie L. mine, not, of course including what lies on the dump and now stacked at the ore houses. According to figures furnished by Secretary Holdich, with the authority of Manager Pool, the company has marketed 800 tons, the total gross value of which was $63,380, or a few cents better than $72 a ton. A better knowledge of their ore, more careful sorting, and other factors, hereafter, will undoubtedly raise the average to over $100 a ton. The company have expended some $45,000 of this amount in development, and the balance will also be used before the next smelter returns are available. The mining expenses for the past six months have amounted to over $2,000 a month, a nice little pay roll in itself, but during this winter it will be much larger as the working force is increased. There is one thing certain. Every dollar of money the Nettie L. people have taken out in ore has been or will be put back in development. The ore shipments this winter, however, will mean the declaration of the long looked for dividends. And the EAGLE has every reason to believe that once the company starts in disbursing dividends there will be no let up, for they have taken out of one of the richest mines in British Columbia. And a company which does business above board, like the Great Western, is entitled to success. When the Lardeau can make such a showing under present adverse conditions it serves to give one some idea of what might be expected if we were given a fair show in the railway, a smelter and a refinery the Lardeau has mines which can make a profit with the silver and lead market no better than it is right now. But as soon as the big lead trust unloads or a home market is created by some device, and a reduction in the price of the refined article is made, we can look for the liveliest mining camp in this province right here. It may take a little time but we're dead used to "waiting."

A Live Capital These Days.

A Victoria correspondent writes to the EAGLE: "Local politics here is in a great muddle. The Jim Hill interests have Bowtell running. The vice president of the independent labor party, John Ley, has become the tool of the government and the McKenzie & Mann interests, and yesterday announced himself as having 'accepted' the labor nomination as an independent supporter of the government and his committee assure me there will be no CO-CO TO THE WORKINGMAN. Isn't that rich? And moreover the man is not the candidate of the independent labor party, as no delegation from it has invited him and I believe never will. I have suspected him of such scheming all along, but ere you receive this a meeting of the independent labor party will be held and we shall see what then. Haskins is in it up to the ears as the representative of McKenzie & Mann, or the Canada Northern, and Eberts is doing the honors for the government through a tool in the trades and labor council, but I believe 90 per cent. of fair labor element will vote to their class and will put a man in the field to defeat both schemes."

Canada Gave Millions toward a National Railway, and then it is gobbled by Wall street money kings. Canada is a real smart country.—Lodge.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1901.

Instead of giving the people the benefit of the low price of lead by refining our own product, and reducing the price of the refined article to a reasonable price, men are busy devising some means of making it possible to mine lead at a profit with a lower price than ever paid before. The fact that there is already an over-production of lead doesn't seem to strike the average mining man. Over-production is a something which cannot be handled by laws or legislation. We must simply wait until the lead trust disposes of the $4,000,000 worth of lead it has on hand. After they will buy more lead. This will be dubbed "prosperity," but as a matter of fact another "panic"—over-production—must soon come again. With the modern means of mining, utilizing electric drills, etc., and the finding of new mineral camps, naturally we produce more lead than we can use. But horrors! What if the government were to build a refinery, and reduce the price of the refined article. Why we all might be able to paint our buildings, and use lead pipe instead of 1x4 boards, not to mention the creation of a home market, and the saving from tariff taxation. And if there was any profit going the people would receive a benefit from two sources. Of course this would have a smack of socialism about it, and that would never do. Production and distribution shouldn't be regulated by the whole people. That would remove the brick wall we are up against.

While the two old Canadian political parties, wedded to their capitalist idols, are shaking their heads, whenever reference is made to progressive measures and don't see how it can possibly be done, our sister colonies are showing us how to do it. The dyed in the wool politicians hankering with a great banker after the labor vote, yet afraid to commit their party to any course which might offend the people who are needed to put up the dough, tell the boys that this or that or the other piece of legislation will surely be passed by the G. O. P. "when the time comes." But to the British common-law, where the voters are not led around by the nose by a handful of place hunters, as they are in Canada, the fact has been recognized that the time has already come and that further delay can do nothing but accentuate the difficulties of the situation. The state government of New South Wales has placed the most drastic industrial arbitration bill yet heard of on the statute book, clothing the judges with tremendous powers and without any appeal whatever.—Revelstoke Herald.

If labor is such an ennobling and uplifting means of developing the best talents and faculties within man, why wouldn't it be good for men to unshackle themselves from poverty or riches? With modern means of production there is no need of slavery. Machinery is man's greatest friend—if he only owned it. Would it not be better for society were all working short hours and none wanting the highways in poverty and search of work. There is something wrong with a system which creates idlers among the classes below and above the working element. Poverty and millions are unnecessary. The nearest approach to heaven we will ever see will be the attainment of the means of production and distribution. May we live to enjoy it.

Last week the Trout Lake Topic administered a good deserved rebuke to the "pessimistic blather-skites" of this province, a rebuke with which the Eagle can heartily concur. As the Topic says the history of but "one camp is evidence enough that mining in this province is not drifting hellward, as that sheet afflicted with chronic dry gripes—the Rossland Miner—would have the world believe." There may be much room for improvement in the situation, but the belly-aching mine owners must confine more of their attention to mining than to politics if the improvement is to be effected. The money they spend in trotting off to Victoria, bucking labor unions, and raising disturbance generally could be spent much more profitably were they to co-operate and adopt the same business methods as the mining men across the line have done. They seem to have become so helpless and incapable, thru dabbling in politics and expecting relief by legislation, that really they are more to be pitied than taken seriously. The solution of the troubles of the mine owners lies in their own hands, and it is only regrettable that the dependent public have to suffer for their lack of enterprise and business ability.

There are two great powers at work in the development of socialism. The great captains of industry at the top and the "common" people at the bottom. The former are proving the practicability of what the latter are striving for. With socialism being perfected by the captains of industry at the top and towns and provinces and Dominions adopting their methods at the bottom the gulf between them must soon close. And the "common" people, being in the majority, will scarcely allow themselves to be hauled by the few at the top. With the captains of industry nationalizing socialism and the people localizing it, the day is not far distant when private socialism must be absorbed by public socialism. The know-it-all little capitalists may look wise and sneer at this contention, but the next ten years will bear out the Eagle's contention.

South East Kootenay contains an acreage of about 4,300,000 acres. The Canadian Pacific has received from the provincial government 3,400,000 acres. Instead of following out the agreements of their charter, "the taking of alternate sections on either side of said railways," it is taken in blocks, prospect, and practically selected by the railway company. We wonder if the government fully understood and had a knowledge of the future prospective value of these enormous areas. As it is, however, it is up to the present government to explain why these areas were reserved, and if reserved in the interest of the Canadian Pacific Railway company. The crown granting of blocks 4,594 and 4,595 occurred during the month of October last.—Fort Steele Prospector.

Premier Dunsmuir owns (?) some rich coal mines. He visited them last week, and came near meeting death with his fellow colleagues, John Chinaman. Did you ever notice that usually it is the producers of wealth that get killed by accidents; not the men who own the means of production. Some day the people will decide to keep their natural wealth for themselves. If it is good for Premier Dunsmuir to own coal mines wouldn't it be good for the whole province to retain them? The lives of the miners could then be safe-guarded, and the profits would go into the people's treasury rather than the pockets of millionaires, not to mention that many a poverty-stricken household would have coal placed within their reach.

Canadian manufacturers have been pampered and well-served until they are a great big lot of greedy, nap-sucking babies. Sloan is loaded down with a burden of protection to build up artificial industries in Ontario. Mining bears the burden. Throw off this tariff and make these cowardly manufacturers stand on their merit or succumb to their fate as incapable. Tien mining supplies would cost a fair price and Kootenay lead mines would beat the world.—Paystreak.

A Kootenay district meeting of the Western Federation of Miners will be convened at an early date to adopt a platform for the Socialist-Labor party and arrange for placing candidates in every riding in the interior. The Lardeau union will likely be represented. The next likely member for this riding is a resident here, and a miner. When the time comes his name will be announced—from a representative socialist-labor convention. Has-been politicians need not apply.

There seems to be room for reform in the manner of administering justice in this province. Cases are too expensive and in many instances too long-winded. If the elective system was in force it might improve matters. When a man has secured a job for life he is liable to forget that there are other equally as important people on this earth.—New Denver Letter.

It is an insult to the people to allow men who have legitimately stolen money from their employees to "donate" monies to build or establish what the people should have already built or established themselves. The donors themselves may not be to blame, but an economic system which makes such robbery possible is rotten to the foundation.

The Eagle receives twelve of the leading mining journals of the United States. Out of these eleven do not even mention the name of British Columbia. And yet we have an agent-general, with expensive offices and staff, in London, trying to attract capital which is invariably wasted, or forced into a bunco game by promoters when it does come here.

Ex-Governor Mackintosh has expressed the opinion that with capable management the Le Roi mine at Rossland should pay a monthly profit of about $25,000, (he even now it is paying handsomely. Yet the management refuse to pay the same scale of wages as is paid everywhere else in the province.

United Waters of North America

THIS IS THE UNION LABEL of the United Waters of North America. When you are buying a FUR HAT, either soft or stiff, see to it that the genuine UNION LABEL is sewed in it. If a retailer has loose labels in his possession and offers to put one in a hat for you, do not patronize him. He has not any right to use loose labels. Loose labels in retail stores are counterfeits. Do not listen to any explanation as to why the hat has no label. The genuine Union Label is perforated on the four edges, exactly the same as a postage stamp. Counterfeits are sometimes perforated on three of the edges, and sometimes in the center. Keep a sharp lookout for the counterfeits. Unperforated manufacturers are the same in their efforts to rid their sea-made hats. The John B. Stetson Co. and the H. To you think socialism is "coming?" Most of the railway brotherhoods in Ontario have met and adopted resolutions denouncing the competitive system and pledging themselves to vote only for such candidates as will favor and work for the public ownership of trusts and monopolies.

Socialists of Italy report another important victory. A vacancy for parliament in the Province of Ancona district held by Republicans. After an exciting contest the Socialist candidate, Barbato, was elected. Barbato had long been a leader of "revolutionary activity" in strike matters.

The steel trust, so report the despatches, will shut out the first of the year, commence a general reduction of its working force, centralizing and eliminating surplus laborers. Its management expect to create the same amount of product from the reduced force by improved methods. The trust is a great labor saving machine.

When men who own the means of production and distribution and men who belong to labor unions exist, there will always be industrial war. If the people were in the former's place there would be no need of labor unions. Business would then be conducted on the same principle as labor organizations, lodges, trusts, etc., by direct legislation.

W. Windle.

Marriage for place, and power, cash or titles, is legalized prostitution. Children born of such wedlock are few and, as a rule, idiotic, or vicious. I say "few," for the reason that such people usually prefer dogs to children. Dogs are all right in their place, but it is a crime to permit them to usurp the baby's place in our affections. People who like dogs more than they do children, are more dog than human.—G. W. Windle.

I have no fault to find with the work in a cotton factory, in and of itself. A reasonable amount of work, a reasonable number of hours for a day's labor, and reasonable wages therefor would make of mill work pleasant and healthful employment. As it is, corporate greed has assigned to each operative too much work—too many spindles, too many looms, etc., and insisted on too many hours in the day, and in the meantime little by little has reduced wages, till these mills, instead of being "hives of industry," as they are sometimes called, are become hells of torture where men are overworked, women are enslaved, and children sacrificed.—From "The Prodigal Daughter."

Is the Coming Solid Town of the Lardeau and Trout Lake District

B E C A U S E Y

BECAUSE of its unique geographical position; nature having provided as pretty a flat bench, at the junction of the north and south forks of Lardeau creek, as ever a town was built up on in British Columbia.

BECAUSE the wonderful mineral developments during the past season have been a marvel to outsiders seeking investment. Not only have the old stand-by properties improved with depth, but the new finds and many test ore shipments are exceedingly gratifying, and attention must surely be attracted this way.

BECAUSE the shipping mines are located on Nettie L. hill, between the two creek forks; on the Great Northern hill just north of the town itself; and on the south fork and its tributaries, for all of which Ferguson is the supply point.

BECAUSE mine owners hire their crews in Ferguson and pay them off in Ferguson.

BECAUSE the offices of many of the companies operating in the camp are located here.

BECAUSE Ferguson receives the pay roll benefit from these working mines.

BECAUSE this is the point where mining men coming into the district make their headquarters; as they can walk or ride and return from most of the properties in one day or less.

BECAUSE every pound of ore from these mines coming down the hill lands first in Ferguson. From here it will be taken to transportation on the lake, a distance of four miles. BECAUSE when the railway reaches the place where the mines are it will reach Ferguson. BECAUSE there is every natural advantage for the building up of a great mining center.

But why give other reasons: We have the mines, the pay roll, the natural geographical location, the supply trade, the banking institutions, unlimited water power for all purposes; and the right kind of people to make a town. The ore shipments, increasing business, and money and enterprise will do the rest. Come here and see for yourself.

On the Wing Items

Canada is sending more men to Africa.

To reach the cent belt one has only to go as far as Calgary now.

The report that the Trail smelter is to close "for repairs" is denied.

Dan Dunbar went out to Revelstoke on Friday and returned on Monday.

There will be no meeting of the literary society tomorrow (Friday) evening.

The Congress mine is the deepest mine in Arizona. It has an incline shaft 3230 feet in length.

The Nelson Miner editorially draws attention to the necessity of a railroad to the Duncan river valley.

Chas. Field, of the firm of Sibbald & Field, Revelstoke, spent a few days in the camp during the past week.

Miss Edith Pettipiece of the Herald staff leaves tomorrow (Sunday) morning for a visit to Ottawa—Revelstoke Herald.

Trout Lake City has a dramatic society. The terrors of mining camp life are never at an end, quoth the New Denver Ledger.

A. M. Pinkham and W. Macdonald paid the Cup mine a visit on Saturday, and returned on Sunday. They saw lots of ore, and the walking was plentiful.

Pat. O'Reilly left for San Francisco and other coast cities, last Saturday, to spend the holiday season. Pat's bank roll would look good to a country editor.

Premier Dunsinuir has brought his coal miners into subjection, and henceforth only non-union men need apply. Mr. Dunsinuir must certainly intend to step out of politics very soon.

Next Wednesday is Christmas day. Enjoy yourself, if you have the price, but enjoy yourself anyway. The Cup and Nettie L. mines will close for the day. Ferguson will be "wide open."

The As. Arcner only makes one trip a day since the 15th inst., leaving Arrowhead at 10 a. m. and Thomson at 1 p. m., according to a private telephone message to the EAGLE from Fred Robinson.

Holiday excursion rates.—All Canadian Pacific railway agents in local territory will issue return tickets at fare and one third for the round trip on Dec. 23, 24, 25, 30, and Jan. 1st, good to return till Jan. 3rd.

The mining mast, prospector or visitor will find something worthy of attention in the Lardeau district, if they become paid-up readers of the EAGLE and buy a copy of the new Lardeau map. $3 1/2 per doz. the bill.

G. Earl McCarty, editor of the Grand Forks Miner Gazette, has joined the benefits. He was married last Wednesday week to Miss Mabel Barnes, at the bride's father's residence, about two miles from Grand Forks.

A local minstrel show is on the boards for St. Valentine's day, February 14th. Messrs. Ryan, Taylor and Cummins, and Miss Edwards are the movers, sufficient guarantee in itself that the affair will be novel and entertaining.

Organizer Cameron has met with much success in Rossland and Grand Forks. A healthy socialist organization has been formed in both cities. At Sandon, Siccan, and Nelson the movement is growing rapidly. The socialists anticipate a victory in the next municipal election at Nelson.

The Ferguson literary society have arranged for another debate for next week. "Resolved that the British Empire will decay." S. Shannon is the leader of the affirmative, while Rev. S. J. Green will captain the negative. There is much food for thought and discussion on this question, and the program should draw another full house.

EAGLE readers will note a change in the rates for the winter of the Halyon Hot Springs Sanitarium, if they read their advt. in this issue. The manager writes: "The season here during the winter is exceptionally mild and as an example of this I pulled a rose last week from one of our beds growing on the lawn in front of the hotel. We call this place the "Beverly Patch," but we have seldom any snow, but have lots of sunshine."
