week, and now is thinking of going to India for elephants.

Ned Fay, the crack shotgun artist and incidentally proprietor of the Grand Hotel bar, is about to add another to his already long list of victories in the sporting field. A year ago, it will be remembered by sportsmen, Ned won the first of the series of three shoots for the diamond badge put up by the Marysville Appeal.

On the 23d inst. the second trial will be shot off, and after a careful scrutiny of the entries Fay has concluded that he will have a harder game this year than he had last. This second trial will be shot off at Shelton's Grove, near Marysville, on the date named, and is already the subject of lively speculation among local shotgun sportsmen. The following letter is self-explanatory:

MARYSVILLE, CAL., Aug. 11, 1896.

Ed Fay, San Francisco—FRIEND NED: I am requested by the managing committee of the Appeal medal shoot in conjunction with the dove stew to notify you that the shoot and stew will take place here at Shelton's Grove, Sunday, August 23. Kindly send names for invitation. Yours truly, E. B. HORNUNG.

Killed Deer, Rabbits and Birds.

The "Annual Slaying Club" returned from the chase yesterday with lots of game and stories. The president is Henry Helberg of Ninth and Bryant streets, who is a clever shot as a trained Schuetzen Vereiner, but on running and flying targets he finds it different. It is the same with the other members, who are Messrs. Richard von der Mehden, John M. Foge, George Alpers and Fred Russ. The party started out Monday last for Crows Canyon, in the San Joaquin, by way of Stockton. At the Slough City they took a camping outfit and started for their hunting goal.

As none of them were pathfinders it took a day and a half to find the canyon, during which time Mr. Russ, who makes and drinks malt liquids, reduced the supply of steam beer to such an extent that it was found necessary to patronize the rippling mountain streams. This, Mr. Russ says, interfered with his deadly aim. However, between the use of shotguns and Winchesters they had an enjoyable time. Helberg killed a three-pronged buck, which proved to be a heavy fellow. The second deer that fell was fired upon by the balance of the party, each of whom claimed the killing, but as the animal had only a bullet-hole through the neck Foge claimed him because he got there first. The record foots up five deer, sixty cottontail rabbits and 275 birds, not to mention the trout that Alpers caught.

THE ANGLER.

Fishing Parties Are Engaged in Whipping Mountain Streams.

The season for the capture of trout will not expire until November 1, but nevertheless news keeps arriving of famous hauls made by local fishermen and lovers of the Waltonian pastime in the interior.

Doc Cracknell, the veteran all-round angler, writes from Spokane Falls, Wash., as follows: "We are catching fish here right along. Yesterday we caught 148. Nearly half of them weighed over two pounds, and the largest was a rainbow over five pounds."

M. J. Geary of THE CALL, commonly considered the amateur long-distance fly caster of the State, in company with A. R. Crowell of the Breeder and Sportsman, as appropriately deemed the amateur champion short-distance fly caster of the State, are whipping the Truckee river. Already the Sierra Nevadan breezes are beginning to waft back fabulous tales of their catches.

Captain George Cunningham and a party of seven are purchasing new and improved tackle preparatory to a trip to the Willamette River in Oregon.

Saturday next John Siebe and A. G. Williamson are going to try their luck at Tamalpais and later on will journey toward the Truckee.

John Butler, the long-distance bait-caster of Sutter street, is corraling his friends and his tackle for a trip to the Eel River, in Mendocino County, in September.

Lawrence A. Williams and a companion recently caught 114 trout in Cedar Creek, Mendocino County, in the short space of an hour.

Attorney J. A. Cooper of Ukiah, a member of the Sportsmen Protective Association, has made some fine catches recently, it is whispered sub rosa, but he himself is said to deny the allegation.

All the streams in the northern part of the State are said to be teeming with trout, they having been liberally stocked by the proper authorities last summer.

Rattlesnakes are said to abound this year, especially in Pieta Creek, and several narrow escapes are recorded.

THE OARSMEN.

Arrangements for the Stockton Regatta About Completed.

The regatta committee of the Pacific Athletic Association, with S. J. Pembroke as chairman, has about perfected arrangements for the Stockton regatta on Admission day. Entry blanks have been sent to the different clubs which will have representatives in the races, and at the last meeting of the committee they received a sanction from the Pacific Athletic Association to make the affair a championship event, the winners of the different races to be the champions of their respective classes for the years of '96 and '97.

There will be seven events on the programme and the races will take place in the following order: Senior single scull, senior outrigger skiff, junior four-oared barge, junior single scull, intermediate class, four-oared barge, junior outrigger skiff and senior four-oared barge.

The first race will be called at 1:30 P. M. sharp and the other races will follow thereafter with an interval of ten minutes between each race, and any crew failing to appear at the starting line within three minutes after the last call being given by the marshal of the course will be disqualified.

Every boat must carry club or individual colors at the bow of the boat and must forward with a list of entrants the design and color adopted for the race, and no one will be allowed to participate who fails to comply with this rule.

An entrance fee of $5 for a four-oared barge and $1 for a single scull and outrigger skiff will be charged as a guarantee of the good faith of each entry, and will be refunded to all starters.

There will be first and second prizes, consisting of gold and silver medals, but no second prize will be awarded unless there are at least three contestants in the event.

The Pacific Athletic Association guarantees to furnish as great a proportion of the transportation expenses as the funds set aside for the regatta will allow, and asks all members of the association to take an active interest in this regatta and lend every aid to make it the greatest regatta ever held on the coast.

The course over which the races will be rowed will be a mile and a half, with a turn, or three-quarters of a mile each way, and will be the same course over which all previous races have been rowed.

The entries for the different events will close August 31, and all entries should be forwarded to S. J. Pembroke, 118 O'Farrell street.

Local oarsmen are working like beavers getting themselves into condition for the regatta, and according to the accounts of Robert Ellis, the crack skiff rower of the Ariel Club, who has just returned from Stockton, the Stocktonian oarsmen are in great form and will give any of the local men a hot race on September 9.

The Dolphins have now swung into line with the rest of the clubs and intend to make a showing in the regatta. They would enter a crew in the Stockton races, but their barge came near being wrecked a short while ago, and the boat-builders claim it couldn't be repaired in time for the races.

They will enter T. R. Keenan in the shell race and John Coughlin and W. O. Patch in the outrigger skiff events. The men are in training from the South End and Ariel clubs at Long Bridge owing to the roughness of the water at North Beach.

A committee of Dolphin members consisting of T. R. Keenan, E. N. Sullivan and W. O. Patch was appointed to arrange for an inter-club regatta to be held in October, and Peter von Hadeln of the club will donate the prizes for the event.

Al Racouillat of the Ariel Club will not row at the Stockton regatta, owing to the serious illness of his brother.

YACHTING.

The Fawn and the Catherine Will Race To-Day.

In the perpetual challenge cup race to-day the Fawn will be distinguished by the letter "E," which is identified with Encinal, and the Catherine by the letter "S," which represents San Francisco.

The Fawn, it is learned, will be manned by the following crew: Captain, James T. Rosseter; J. A. Landsberger, Edward Holmes, L. Ward, George Dillman and George Leonard.

The members of the syndicate owning the Fawn are confident that in a strong breeze their boat will win. Her ballast will hereafter be carried outside instead of inside, as a new leaden shoe has been placed on. A brand-new suit of racing and working sails were bent on the Fawn this week, and now her owners are confident that she is the fastest boat of her size in the bay.

At 2 P. M. the start will be made from the narrow-gauge pier, and the race will be over the Encinal course. It is expected that with a good stiff breeze the boats will traverse the course in about two and a half hours.

J. Mattoon's new yacht will be launched from Stone's ways at Belvedere in a few days. She is 33 feet over all and 24 feet on the water line. Captain Mathew Turner is her designer.

To-day eleven of the Corinthians' fleet go up the Sacramento River for a two weeks' cruise. The rest of the fleet will accompany them a short distance and give them a grand send-off.

SEA FISHING.

Various Species of Fish Hauled in by Local Anglers.

Bay fishing continues good, and large catches of rockcod, smelts and various other kinds of the finny tribe are daily reported from the principal fishing grounds.

Last Tuesday Fred Manson, the well-known angler, went out with a companion and caught 76 pounds of red and blue rockcod at Cavallo. The largest was a blue rockcod weighing 3¾ pounds. There were five that weighed over 2 pounds each.

The same day Al Thompson and two friends caught about 90 pounds of rockcod in the region of the Lime Point fog-whistle.

Monday last Fred Barrett and companion caught over 100 smelts at Target Rock, opposite Sausalito, several of them weighing from 1¼ to 1½ pounds each, and measuring from 16 to 18 inches in length.

Tomcods are getting quite plentiful, and good catches have been made on the fishing banks a few hundred yards off the Sausalito shore.

Kingfish are also to be caught in the same vicinity. The largest haul of tomcods yet reported is one made a few days ago by C. Forrest.

BASEBALL.

Zahn Signed With San Francisco. Wheelmen to Cheer.

There will be an unusually good game on Sunday next, the make-up being as follows:

San Franciscos.	Positions.	Oaklands.
W. Scott	Catcher	Agnew
H. Iberg	Pitcher	Shea
M. Murphy	First base	Dalmas
F. Monahan	Second base	Keating
P. Sweeney	Third base	Walters
H. Krug	Shortstop	Arlett
J. Leonard	Right field	Hardie
M. Zann	Center field	Feeney
R. Levy	Left field	Davis

M. Zann has been signed with the San Franciscos.

Jack Donovan, captain and first baseman for the Oaklands, whose ankle was badly injured during a recent game, is now improving and will be able to play ball in two or three weeks.

The Oakland Baseball Club has presented tickets to the Acme Club Wheelmen, who will appear in a body to cheer for their favorites across the bay. The San Franciscos, not to be outdone, have complimented one of the local clubs of wheelmen, so there promises to be plenty of excitement.

SWIMMING.

Olympic Swimming Club Rises Phœnix-Like From Its Ashes.

Up to the first of last November a pretty fair swimming club existed within the sacred confines of the Olympic Club building, but owing to a lack of co-operation on the part of the officers it died a natural death.

Since that time the Olympic and Pacific swimming clubs have, in a way, united to give exhibitions at Sutro's Baths. Under the new club management, to be inaugurated in September, the swimming annex will be reorganized, and an especial attempt made to revive the ladies' nights, so popular during the last two or three years.

These nights will be informal affairs, with a short programme of features. Prizes will be given for the various classes of performers, and different kinds of races will be had.

Great preparations are being made for the coming Pacific Coast championship meeting, to take place at the Sutro Baths on August 30, September 6 and 13. Charles Cavill, champion swimmer of Australia, who is on his way to England to compete for the world's championship, is in active training at the Sutro Baths, and the local champions will have their hands full to defeat him at any distance up to 1000 yards. The coast championship race for one-quarter mile is set for August 30, the half-mile for September 6 and the 1000 yards for September 13. All the swimming cracks from San Diego to Victoria are getting in trim for the forthcoming events and the tournament is expected to prove the grandest natatorial occasion seen on the coast for a long time. Any one desirous of entering should send in his name as soon as possible.

Coursing.

Coursing men will receive a genuine treat in the card that is presented at Ocean View to-morrow. Some of the best-known flyers of the City are entered for the meet and, with the fast hares for which the park is noted, the sport should be first class. The new management has proved itself capable of handling a big meet and the running of to-morrow should satisfy the most fastidious.

Following is the result of the drawing that took place at Delta Hall last evening:

Harkaway vs. Mission Boy, Bill Nye vs. Snowbird, Simple Simon vs. Domino, Marguerite vs. Captain Morse, Tullamore vs. Handspring, Nellie C vs. Eclipse, Lord Clifton vs. Regent, Bendalon vs. Reliance, Ben Brush vs. Weely Monitor, Gripman vs. Move On, Angeline vs. Little Tom, Molly Bawn vs. Evening Star, Tommy Hall vs. Rosa B, White Chief vs. Fairy, Maud G vs. Long John, Wee Nell vs. California Violet.

Prizes are: $25, $15, $6, $6.

Officers—Judge, John Grace Jr.; slipper, P. Brophy.

In addition to the regular stake the finals of last Sunday's coursing will be decided, Sly Boy, Tom Hayes and Sam being left in.

Following are the dogs that will compete in the interstate coursing meet at Ingleside Park to-morrow:

Deceiver vs. Nellie Conroy, Flashlight vs. Granualle, Lissak vs. Whip Jr., Skyball vs. Sarcastic, Right Bower vs. Flying Buck, Ivy vs. Fear Not, Alameda vs. Mohawk, Laurelwood vs. Spiraway, Babe Murphy vs. Emin Pasha, Govern— Jim vs. Ruby, Belmont vs. Said Pasha, San Victor vs. Eldridge, Mowdyne vs. Magnet.

Handball.

Colonel John Riordan has arranged an attractive programme of games for the San Francisco court to-morrow. Besides the usual list, the first rub in the boys' competition for a gold and silver medal, offered by Phil Ryan, the proprietor, will be played. Eight boys have entered, and great interest is being manifested in the result:

Following is the list of games:

P. Hutchinson and D. Connolly against J. Lawless and J. McEvely, P. Kelly and C. Sullivan against J. Slattery and W. Kelly, J. Feeney and G. Hutchison against R. Lenihan and J. Nelson, R. Murphy and J. White against J. Collins and W. Stansbury, M. McNeil and G. McDonald against P. Ryan and D. Rodgers, J. Riordan (coast champion) and J. C. Nealon against T. F. Bonnet and P. Donnelly (amateur champion).

At the Union court to-morrow the chief attraction will be the deciding game for the heavy-weight championship between Joe McAuliffe, the Mission boy, and Terry McManus, one of the proprietors of the court, who at present claims the championship.

Last Sunday they played four games at the Mission Athletic Club court and each won two. The deciding game to-morrow will be well worth seeing. Among the other games to be played are the following: Tim Jordan and T. Lenihan will play R. Murphy and M. McNally; J. Roger and J. Lavigne will play T. Fahey and G. Maguire; and J. Harlow (the ex-coast champion) and Al Pennoyer will play against R. Lenihan and J. J. Feeney, the crackajacks of the court.

California Schuetzen Club.

On both Sundays, August 16 and August 23, the California Schuetzen Club will hold a grand prize shoot at Schuetzen Park, near San Rafael. There will be many points of interest and costly prizes of various kinds, as well as cash prizes, for the winners of the various events. The shoot is open to all comers. The boats will leave the Tiburon ferry on both days of the festival at 7:30, 9:30 and 11:30 A. M. and 1:30 and 3:30 P. M.

Football in the Northwest.

PORTLAND, OR., Aug. 14.—The Pacific Northwest championship games are practically assured Portland. The games were scheduled to come off in Seattle, September 19, under the auspices of the Seattle Athletic Club, but the only available grounds there have been turned into a bicycle track, with a high-banked track, which does not allow sufficient straightaway for a part of the races, and the banks are so high that runners could not conveniently pass one another in the mile run.

Both Seattle and Tacoma write that they will have no football teams this season, due to the fact that the sport is not sufficiently well patronized on the sound as to encourage the necessary effort and expense to get good teams together. Port Townsend expects to play the game as usual.

The Multnomahs were expecting to put an unusually good team in the field this year, and with that end in view the board of trustees appointed Messrs. Sanderson Reed, Percy Blyth, Wesley Ladd, T. J. Raley and Otto Burckhardt as a special football committee to co-operate with the athletic committee. It is not known what effect the decision of the sound clubs will have on the sport as far as Portland clubs are concerned, but it is not unlikely that both the Portland and Multnomah clubs will have teams, just the same, as no doubt the Corvallis, Eugene and Salem colleges will have teams, and a sufficient number of games could be arranged forthwith.

A series of games between Portland and Multnomah alone would not be a bad card, and the old-time rivalry between the two clubs would insure interesting sport.

THEY WANT PURE WATER

Customs Employes Find Live Creatures in the Water Furnished Them.

Clerk Joe McGary Swears Positively That He Will Never Take Another Drink.

Consternation reigns in Federal circles and all because the water furnished them is not what it should be. It is full of bugs and worms and all manner of repulsive looking creatures, causing the hair of the abstainer to stand on end, and forcing those who imbibe a little "just for the stomach's sake," to mentally take the pledge.

The water for the Appraiser's and Custom house buildings is furnished by the Spring Valley Company. Up to a few weeks ago it was a first-class article, as water goes, but at that time certain little irregularities began to appear. First came clean, fresh-looking worms, followed later by little creatures having much the appearance of a miniature crawfish.

These were all allowed to pass unnoticed until yesterday, when Joe McGary, connected with the Postal Inspector's office, drew a glass of water from the hydrant with which to quench a burning thirst—a kind of relic of the night before. With trembling hand he carried the glass to Inspector Munro, and in husky tones asked him if he could see "anything alive." He was told that something of that kind was to be observed.

"Thanks," murmured Joe to his superior. "I will not do it again."

Other officers in the two Government buildings complain of the bad water. They say there is great danger of employes taking to cider or some other hard drink unless the evil is immediately arrested. Collector Wise yesterday notified the water company of the condition of affairs and urged that the cause of the impurities be removed at once.

THE HOBURG DIVORCE.

The Attorney Interposed No Objection to His Wife Securing a Decree.

The divorce suit of Mary Gibbs Hoburg against Attorney Frank T. Hoburg was on trial before Judge Hunt yesterday. As was expected, the defendant did not appear to contest the case. His Honor heard Mrs. Hoburg's testimony and granted her a divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty.

Judge Slack granted Anna Tracy a divorce from William Tracy because of the latter's willful desertion and neglect.

Judge Hunt divorced Emma J. Hendy from George W. Hendy, on the ground of willful desertion.

Judge Sanderson granted Eliza Walters a divorce from John Walters, because of the latter's desertion.

Supreme Court Notes.

The Supreme Court yesterday affirmed the decision of the Superior Court of Los Angeles in the case of the People against Romer. The defendant was charged with murder in the second degree and convicted. The appeal was based upon technical reasons, which the Supreme Court adjudged insufficient.

The decisions in Finkelday against the Omnibus Cable Company and Mary J. Pleasant against David Samuels were reversed.

She Will Be Deported.

Wong Sue, the pretty Chinese girl detained as a witness against Wong Sam, was dismissed from custody yesterday. The cases against Sam having been dismissed there was no longer any occasion for her detention. The dismissal as a witness, however, does not end the troubles of Wong Sue. She will be held by Collector Wise, and a suit to have her deported will be instituted to-day.

WILLIAM EDLIN WILL BE FINED.

Guilty of Obstructing the Sidewalk by an Address.

RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH

Jury Lost Sight of an Excepting Clause in the City Ordinance.

THE CONFLICTING TESTIMONY.

The Verdict Warns the Socialist-Labor Party Not to Obstruct the Streets.

William Edlin, a student and proselyte for the Socialist-Labor party, who was arrested on the evening of August 1, and charged with obstructing the sidewalk, had his trial yesterday afternoon by jury before Police Judge Charles A. Low. At the time of his arrest by Patrolmen H. Murphy and T. P. Reardon he was addressing a crowd near the corner of Folsom and Sixth streets.

William Edlin, Found Guilty of Obstructing the Streets by a Socialist-Labor Party Speech.

The courtroom was crowded. The only woman present was a Mrs. Schwartz of Oakland, who also has faith in the principles of the Socialist-Labor party, and is a friend of the defendant. Arnold W. Liechti, a young attorney, appeared for Edlin, and the State's interest was looked after by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Arthur Mack. The six jurors were R. Isleman, M. Gallinberg, O. Serven, P. H. Pendleton, F. A. Brown and R. Shainwald, mostly business men.

The principal witness for the prosecution was Bernard Meyer, who made the complaint to the police about the meetings because they interfered with his prerogative as an American business man to sell groceries and steam beer. He keeps a grocery on the northeast corner of Sixth and Folsom streets. Mr. Meyer testified that the crowd obstructed the sidewalk so that customers could not come into his store, used profane language and made lady customers timid.

The police officers told the story of having been instructed by their lieutenant to disperse the meeting; that only when Edlin insisted on his right of free speech and refused to stop talking did they arrest him. They testified that it was not a public meeting and that the speakers had no permit from the Board of Supervisors to hold the meeting. Both testified that the sidewalk and half the street out to the cartrack were obstructed.

For the defense Mark Leitus testified that he did not see Edlin speaking on the night of August 1, and he said he was at the meeting from the beginning to the end. "When told to move away by the officers," he said, "we moved down to the Socialist Labor Hall, at 970 Folsom street, twelve or fourteen doors away from the corner, and it was there that Edlin was arrested. The sidewalk was not obstructed."

The court here said: "There are plenty of places to hold meetings beside the street. Nobody objects to people holding meetings, but they should try to do it so as not to discommode other people." The court suggested that "an elegant place to hold a meeting would be at the beautiful statue" near the City Hall.

Attorney Liechti contended that it was not necessary under the laws of California to get a permit to hold a public meeting.

"Did you get a permit to hold a meeting?" asked Prosecutor Mack of the witness.

"Don't answer that question," directed Attorney Liechti.

"I don't know whether it is necessary to get a permit or not," said the court.

The testimony of the other witnesses for the defense, who were Louis J. Gordon, Frank Neidl and the defendant himself, was to the effect that Edlin was not speaking on the corner when arrested, but was in front of the hall; that the sidewalk was not obstructed, for people were passing to and fro upon it all the time; that it was a public meeting. Edlin said he moved from the corner when requested to do so by the police; that he opened the meeting and was speaking a second time when arrested. "I told the officer," he said, "that the constitution of the United States gave me the right of free speech and that I meant to maintain it."

W. H. Harvey, who does business on Folsom street, two doors from the corner of Sixth, was called in rebuttal by the prosecution. He said Edlin was arrested twenty-five or thirty feet away from his place of business, and that the hall was still 200 feet away. The sidewalk was so crowded that he could hardly get through.

In his speech to the jury Prosecutor Mack said he did not deny the right of free speech, but it should take place in the right place.

Liechti made an energetic address to the jury. He said: "The only question is, was this a public meeting or not? The people have a right to hold public meetings, and this was one. The city ordinance says that the police shall disperse crowds that obstruct the sidewalks except on occasions of public meetings. Suppose William Jennings Bryan should come into the City, would not the people have a right to assemble to hear him, and would he have to go to the Supervisors and get a permit to speak? No. It is a right guaranteed by the constitution for the people to assemble peacefully and discuss public questions. If you strike at that you strike at the foundation of the Republic. The Supervisors recognized this fact and guarded against it in the exception clause of the ordinance.

"In a political campaign the interests of one man should be yielded to the discussion of questions which are of the greatest interest to all.

"The police," he continued, "are particularly instructed in the case of public meetings to make a free passage through the crowd. That is what the officers should have done; that was their duty, but they did not do it. They told him he could not speak at all, and arrested him, probably for political reasons. The Socialist Labor party is as much a political party as any other party. It has National, State and municipal tickets in the field."

The charge of the court was impartial. After five minutes' deliberation the jury returned a verdict of guilty. It was a surprise to most of those in the courtroom. The court will pass sentence on Edlin this morning.

THE LABOR COUNCIL.

It Condemns the Jury for the Conviction of the Socialist Orator.

At the meeting of the Labor Council last night two delegates from the committee of the Defense Association of the Socialistic Labor party submitted a series of resolutions condemning the action of the court in the case of William Edlin, the socialist speaker who was arrested and convicted for disturbing the public peace and obstructing the streets while conducting an open-air meeting on Sixth street, near Folsom.

The resolutions submitted were adopted and the following resolutions were drafted by the law and legislative committee of the council, which embody the same thought as the resolutions submitted by the socialists:

WHEREAS, The right of free speech and peaceable assembly has again been invaded by police in the arrest of a public speaker on the streets of San Francisco on the 1st inst., and whereas, these wanton attacks upon the people are excused by the authorities on the grounds that a permit from the Chief of Police is necessary to hold open-air meetings, therefore be it

Resolved, By the San Francisco Labor Council, in regular session assembled, that we declare the right of free speech and peaceable assembly to be vested in every citizen by the National and State constitutions; that that right is inalienable and in no sense dependent upon the will of any official, and that if the principle of official permission is once recognized free speech and peaceable assembly cease from that moment to be rights and become merely privileges which may be granted or withheld at the pleasure of the authorities; and further be it

Resolved, That we emphatically protest against the assumption by the police and courts of power to override the basic law of the Nation, and that we look upon the frequent recurrence of the arrest of public speakers and the breaking up of the meetings as part of a policy of public expression, and therefore highly dangerous and should be condemned by the strongest possible expressions of public determination to conserve in their entirety every right of American citizenship.

W. MACARTHUR,
A. FURUSETH,
T. F. BURNS,
C. E. HAWKES.

It was further decided to hold an open-air meeting, at which addresses will be made protesting against the interference of the police with the expression of free speech. The executive committee will meet next Wednesday night and take action on this matter.

There will also come up at that meeting the question of Labor day. It has virtually been decided by the council to recognize the National day set aside for that holiday in preference to the day set aside by the State of California. The National Labor day occurs on the first Monday in September.

J. Lavigne was elected as delegate and trustee of the council from the Coopers' Union.

Socialists Indignant.

At the regular meeting of the Jewish Branch Socialist Labor party, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, A member of the Socialist Labor party who was arrested a short time ago for holding a public meeting has to-day been convicted by a jury, and whereas, such a conviction must necessarily infringe upon the rights of free speech guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, and whereas, the evidence plainly showed that it was an orderly public meeting held under the auspices of a regular organized political party; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Jewish Branch Socialist Labor party, in regular meeting assembled, most profoundly enter our protest against the verdict of the jury, and call upon all organized labor and the daily press to assist us in our fight for the maintenance of free speech.

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be furnished to the daily press of this City.

MRS. INGLIS NOW WANTS A DIVORCE.

Her Husband's Former Lawyer Will Plead Her Case.

QUICK CHANGE OF HEART

Three Months Ago She Wanted Only Alimony, but No Separation.

FEARED THE OTHER WOMAN.

John P. Inglis, Contracting Agent of the Union Pacific, May Soon Be Free.

The domestic troubles of John P. Inglis and his wife Marion are again to be aired in the Superior Court. This time the airing will be done through the medium of a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Inglis against her husband. Incidentally this same suit has developed an unusual circumstance, which interests the lawyers even more particularly than it does others.

Early last March Mrs. Inglis sued her husband for maintenance, and subsequently to enjoin him from leaving the State. In these actions the defense was represented by Attorney Miller, who proved a bitter advocate against Mrs. Inglis. There was much bad feeling, so the story goes, between the complaining wife and the counsel that fought her all along the line. Matters went along since then in an uncertain way, and now in the divorce proceedings her old enemy appears as her counsel.

This is the peculiar point of the proceedings, and it is said to contain a story of influence on the part of Inglis over his wife in making her forsake her former lawyer for one who fought her while retained by her husband.

Inglis is the contracting agent of the Union Pacific Railway in this City. He married Mrs. Inglis thirteen years ago, and, according to the complaint filed by her last March for maintenance, they lived happily together until another woman estranged his affections. At that time she did not want a divorce. She set forth in the complaint that in case of a divorce having been granted she believed he would marry her rival, and then there would be much difficulty in getting alimony. Pending the suit the court granted Mrs. Inglis $55 a month alimony.

Inglis himself then claimed that she had possession of his stamp album, which he valued at $500 to $600. She was ordered to make a deposition regarding the album, and in doing so she stated that the album was in possession of a Mr. Franklin at the Sutter-street carhouse. Franklin was called on for the valuable collection of postage-stamps, but he declared it was not in his possession, as he had given it away even while Mrs. Inglis was making her deposition.

Attorney Miller wanted to have her punished for contempt, but Judge Slack held an opposite view of the matter and let it pass.

Inglis resigned his position May 1, but later on reconsidered his decision, with the result that he still remains with the Union Pacific Company.

Hearing of his resignation, Mrs. Inglis brought suit to enjoin him from leaving the State or disposing of his mining stocks valued at $5000.

The last two months have made a remarkable change in the plans, as she now charges Inglis with cruelty and wants to be legally separated from him for that cause. But her old attorney who won the former fights has been cast aside for her husband's lawyer, who will now fight Inglis in court. The divorce will leave Inglis a free man, and consequently it is expected that some settlement has been made, and that the other woman will soon come upon the scene in a new light.

O. W. Marye's Estate.

The estate of Orrick W. Marye, the stock broker who committed suicide at the Baldwin Hotel about three months ago, was yesterday appraised at $13,338 79, of which $11,731 29 is in cash.

That is born of electricity, and when wasted by excesses it can be regained by saturating your body with electricity every day from

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT.

Presuming that you get in a tight pinch, where quick action is necessary, then your nerve is put to the test. Very few strong-muscled men are quick to think and act, because they have weak nerves—nerves that are slow and sluggish. What good, then, is your muscle?

"I feel it my duty to let you know that your Belt has done for me all that you have recommended it to do. The improvement in one month is wonderful," writes M. J. Gorman, Golden Eagle Hotel, Marysville, Cal., August 6, 1896.

With strong nerves you can easily cultivate muscle. Without them muscle don't count for much. Be strong every way and you can boast of your manhood. Now are you lacking in any respect, in muscle, nerve, heart or other organs? Bear in mind all these depend upon animal magnetism—Electricity—for their support. If you are weak you need Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt.

Dr. Sanden's little book, "Three Classes of Men," has some valuable information for you. It is worth sending for—free, closely sealed, by mail. Consultation free.
