FAIRY STORIES FROM REAL LIFE, No. 2.

CAPITAL: Yes, my son, our giant is angry. He does not like the whips that I have been whipping him with. He is going to strike. But don't be alarmed. All I have to do—

Is to change myself into a Federal Judge and hand this piece of paper to him, and if he shouldn't get right down on his knees the Taxpayers will furnish us the Soldiers to shoot him.

tor. Here is an extract from their fighting platform:

The Socialist party is the American expression of the international movement of modern wage workers for better food, better houses, education, more leisure, more amusement and more culture. Those who do useful work with hands and brain are the producers of all wealth, but as laws are now made in the interests of property and the men who own property, the rights of the workers are ignored, although they are in the great majority.

Both the Republican and Democratic parties are not able to help the wage workers and small dealers, as they can not consistently oppose property rights.

These rights are more sacred to them than the rights of man; but, alarmed by the growing strength of Socialism, they are now trying to use phrases that sound "socialistic" to them. Yet none of them dare to attack the only vital point in the present economic system, the private ownership of the means of production and distribution.

SOCIALISM IN THREE QUESTIONS.

First Question: What is the most dreadful fact of modern times? Answer: Multitudes of men out of work.

Second Question: What makes these multitudes of men out of work? Answer: Modern machinery which needs only a few men to do the work of the world.

Third Question: How can these unemployed multitudes employ themselves? Answer: By setting themselves into power, taking possession of modern machinery and creating with it wealth enough for all.

What is to prevent the working class of Seattle capturing the city government one year from now? Nothing unless they refuse to learn what Socialism has to teach them. Nothing, unless they turn away from their own natural born politics.

A SIMPLE ARBITRATION BOARD.

Three lawyers constitute the Board of Arbitration between the Street Car Employees and their big corporation Employer, The Seattle Electric Company.

It is all a huge joke! In the first place, there is nothing material to arbitrate. Only this, shall the scabs have seniority? It was all settled beforehand that the scabs should stay on their jobs. So there is really nothing to arbitrate. The principle of Unionism was lost in accepting the company's terms.

But this Arbitration Board is a fair sample of such concerns. Three Lawyers! Three Lawyers to arbitrate for workmen! A spectacle for gods and devils!

How did the third lawyer, a well known Republican politician, get on? It must have been by consent of the workingman's lawyer representative. Of course! But when will working men learn to trust themselves? Only when they become class-conscious Socialists!

THE MILLS MANIFESTO.

Walter Thomas Mills has issued a full page article in defense of himself and in support of Omaha as National Headquarters. "In so, the most conspicuous thing about it is, that he takes seven columns of solid type not to deny the main charge against him, namely, that "he ignores the class struggle as the central element in our political program."

"The Socialist" has made this charge again and again, offering its columns freely to Comrade Mills for denial, and Comrade Mills has read it just as often as we made it, and yet he manages to reply through a whole page of brevity, and skip this particular point.

He tried all around the point, like a moth about a candle, but never plunges in. Would it burn?

He even intimates that "we in the West" are suspected "by some of the Comrades on our European border" of not taking part in the world wide class struggle, "an absurd misstatement and evasion."

The Real Point.

Shall our party affairs be administered by a Local Quorum, the majority of whom represent agricultural communities with slight working class instincts or interests, and with a minimum Socialist vote, and who are under the influence of a man who does not deny that he ignores the class struggle as the central element in our political program? Nor should anything we have said be construed as derogatory to the farmers. The proletarian farmers belong with us. But they are not our chief support, nor our first support. The farmers must join a working class party, not the wage workers. Join a farmers' party. Our organization should be the hands of those who thoroughly recognize the working class basis of the Socialist Party."

Holland is giving an exhibition of workmen's solidarity. The Railroad employees were the first to go on strike. Then the Dock Laborers, the Bakers and Diamond Cutters—on the heels of the strikers. The sympathetic strike is a new thing, comparatively. What it means? It means the spread of class consciousness, the Socialist idea that all workers have a common interest. The Giant is awakening all over the world. Tremble, Rulers!

Brookley's cartoon this week would draw tears from a stone. No chattel slave days could have produced such an incident. And what an awful comment on the Capitalist lies about prosperity! "Nobody out of employment," is the siren song of the Daily Press. They tell their readers to sleep on a volcano. It is such facts as this that show the abyss.

Our special offer of Ten Yearly Subscription Cards for $2.50 holds good only till the 15th. Our expensive cartons ought to raise the price of this paper to One Dollar a year. Twenty-five cents will not pay for the cost. But to introduce the paper as widely as possible, we make this offer. One Week More!

KENTUCKY PLATFORM.

Read This If You Want to Know What Socialists Stand For.

First—The Socialists of Kentucky, in convention assembled at Covington, March 22, 1903, declare their allegiance to the principles set forth in the platform of the Socialist party of America, adopted at Indianapolis, Ind., July 21, 1901.

Second—In every thinking quarter it is recognized that the present industrial and political conditions are intolerable. The system of wealth production has reached a stage of fetten unparalleled, but it is evident that there are dangers of the most serious character in the system of wealth distribution. Socialists submit that there is the only correct analysis of economic conditions and that only by the inauguration of their policies under working class administration can grave disasters be averted and social peace be secured. Past agencies are already at work to perpetuate injustice and we warn the working class that only by prompt and vigorous action can they preserve their liberties and the material advantages they now enjoy.

Third—The vast majority of the people are at the mercy of an industrial despotism, which stands athwart the path of social progress. In the midst of prodigious plenty we have the anomaly of gaunt and starving masses of the people. Labor, which produces all wealth, is denied the enjoyment of its product and forced to accept in wages a small proportion of the value of that which it creates. The capitalists, in complete control of the machinery of wealth distribution, foil to provide for their dependent workers, and stand indicted before the bar of civilization for criminal incapacity in the discharge of the social trust which their possession of wealth imposes on them. We, therefore, demand the abolition of the institution of private property in the means of production and distribution, and the inauguration of an industrial democracy which shall guarantee to every producer of wealth the full value of his product.

Fourth—The tools of production, which were formerly simple and owned by the individual workers, are no longer in their possession. The simple tool has grown into the machine of today, but with the change from individual to social machinery there has been no corresponding change from individual to collective ownership, as a consequence the workers, having no property interest in the machinery of production, find their right to labor and to live dependent upon the pleasure and profit of the capitalist class. By their ownership of the means of production and distribution, the capitalists dominate the industrial situation and have reduced the workers to a condition of dependency and virtual slavery.

Fifth—The supremacy of the capitalists in the political field is as complete as in the industrial world. Practically all laws enacted are in their behalf. The sympathetic courts and protect them and the deliverances of the judiciary are shaped to suit their needs or pleasures. They are able, by threats of loss of employment, to coerce wage earners into voting for capitalist parties and policies. Thus the individual liberty of the citizen—the cornerstone of democratic government—is curtailed and the republican character of our institutions is destroyed. The government agencies, instead of being directed for the good of the whole people, are controlled by the capitalists whose necessities and desires become the written law of the land. Private property and not human liberty is made the basis of social ethics, and press, pulpit and the schools are prostituted for the purpose of perpetuating the life of competition. Between the possessing class and the working class there is a constant struggle over the division of the product of labor. The workers, in seeking to better their condition by securing higher wages, can only realize their ambition by decreasing the profits of the employers. Out of this conflict of interests come the strikes, lock-outs, boycotts and those disturbances which keep the body of society in constant turmoil. As long as these conflicting interests exist so long must there be a struggle between the workers and capitalists and proposals for "peace between capital and labor" when they are not intended to lull the workers into ignoble sleep, are visionary and impracticable.

Seventh—in view of these facts we urge the wage earners and those in sympathy with them to ally themselves with the Socialist party whose purpose is the conquest of the public powers. The Socialist ideal is the complete overthrow of capitalism and the substitution of collective or private ownership of the means of production and distribution, but pending the realization of its complete purpose the Socialist party pledges its representatives who may be elected to public office, to assist the working class in every effort to improve its condition.

ILLUMINATING CORRESPONDENCE

Between A. W. Ricker, Associate Editor of "Appeal to Reason" and William Mally, National Secretary of the Socialist Party.

We print the following letters for the light they throw on the relations between the "Appeal to Reason" and the Socialist Party. Some of Comrade Ricker's expressions are so astonishing and show how it is for a party in a battle with the regular party to deny or repudiate, to imagine itself in a position of being the regular party in America's mind to its life.

There can be no doubt that every paper and club should be in the party with its own account of the regular party in its own mind. It is not the regular party that we are talking about, but the regular party that we are talking about.

COMRADE CROSTON TO COMRADE NEILL-A REJOINER.

Hoquiam, Wash. Mar. 24, 1903.

Comrade Neill--As a member of the Socialist Educational Union I refer to you the columns of this paper in giving you my ideas on what I think is the proper course for our party in earning your living as a lawyer and Socialist.

It is in fact none of my business, and furthermore, the circumstances you state have no bearing whatever on the subject matter of party affairs. Your last question covers the ground pretty well when you ask: "Can I be a Socialist and at the same time continue to sell my legal services to capitalists and the public generally? Well, I should hope so, if you can't, I don't think there are half a dozen Socialists in the state. Might just as well ask me if I can be a Socialist and at the same time sell my manual services to the capitalists and public, who, generally speaking, are opposed to Socialism."

THE THEORY OF HUMAN PROGRESSION

Natural Probability of a Reign of Justice
Edited with biographical sketch by Alexander Harvey
Nothing more remarkable than the history of this book, except the book itself. It has occurred in literary history. There was a generation in advance of Henry George in progress in the movement of the single tax. From the charge of plagiarism in his own right grew out of this fact. Dore, however, a scholar and a profound thinker, championed the single tax on land for quite a different standpoint than George. In this respect the work will startle those who have been misled by a garbled by Alexander Harvey, who prepares the book with the aid of the author and a mention of the remarkable circumstances that led to its appropriation. The work is complete and unabridged.
