General Effect.
 It has been pretty well demonstrated that no one State can support a Socialist party. This proposition was the paper the solid support of three well organized States.
 It would eliminate the main objection to the paper, namely, that it was owned by the party mass a party controlled by the party mass. The office—the State Secretary to turn same over to the management committee of the paper. Each member to receive the paper free.

PROGRESS OF THE SOCIALIST PARTY OF WASHINGTON

By Emil M. Herman
 (Requested and rejected by A. M. Simon, Editor Chicago "Daily Socialist.")

Los Angeles, Cal., June 3, 1908.
 The Chicago Socialist.
 Dear Comrade:—While in attendance at the Socialist Party National Convention I was approached by one of your staff and requested to write an article on the origin and progress of the Socialist Party of Washington. I hereby comply with said request. The Socialist Party of Washington really, respectively, by its friends and feared by its enemies.

Our path has not been strewn with roses. We have waged a hard struggle with the enemies of the Working Class, both outside and inside the organization. We have at times stood for no fusion, no compromise, have been classed as the class line and remained true to the revolutionary purpose of the Socialist Movement. To do this we have several times found it necessary to shed ourselves of "constructive" reform elements which have developed in our midst from time to time.

The first real conflict between Revolution and Reform in the Socialist Party of Washington occurred in the State convention of 1902. At this convention appeared a delegate from Spokane with 51 proxies, two of which represented new and budding capitalist offices, to which one was elected and the other appointed by a political party opposed to and by the Socialist Party.

These revolutionary Socialists went out. The two proxies were not recognized by the convention, and what remained of the convention was passed in directing Local Spokane to request these two men to either resign from their official position as representatives of the capitalist class, or from the Socialist Party, and falling to do either, to expel them.

Local Spokane not only did not comply with the mandate of this convention, but gave the Socialist Party a direct slap in the face by refusing to accept the resignation tendered by these men.

This and subsequent violations of the Socialist Party constitution, platform and resolutions, Local Spokane in 1903 had their charter revoked by referendum vote.

This was the same way. Local Northport had their charter revoked and Thomas Neal was expelled from the party; the former because they compromised the party by casting their lot with one capitalist interest opposed to another in a pending municipal campaign, the latter because he allowed himself to be nominated and elected prosecuting attorney of Colfax by the Citizen's Party.

Such doublehanded non-partisan. The Socialist Party of Washington has never been able to conceive of a non-partisan party which is not political, and therefore necessarily a party of the capitalist class.

The next great battleground was in Seattle. We found it necessary to expel Local Seattle from the party—once because they attempted to elect their members who signed pledges promising to support the municipal ownership party in the campaign of 1905; the second time because they refused to ratify Walter Thos. Mills on the slate of party nominees.

Both times the action of the state committee was appealed from, and both times their action was sustained by the party membership.

This was the same way. The Socialist Party of Washington from its revolutionary course, the opportunist, who had previously—and it is typical of their kind—howled themselves hoarse for harmony, peace and built up a counter organization, and under the pretense of operating under the national constitution, and the capitalist class a good turn by trying to disorganize the Socialist Party of Washington.

They failed miserably in their attempt to go down on our neck. The Socialist Party of Washington is stronger in numbers, stronger in spirit, more courageous, more militant, more harmonious and better disciplined than ever before in its history.

In spite of our internal struggle with Opportunists we have one of the best organizations of any state in the Union. After years of struggle in Seattle in which we were not only the best organizations of any state in the Union, but many pretended friends of the socialist organization, and a shorter duration of their industrial centers of the state, for the right of free speech, we finally won out, and can now speak unopposed—without asking permission—any city or town of the state.

One out of every 350 of our population is a member of the Socialist Party, and the outlook for the future is very encouraging.

EMIL M. HERMAN.

SIMONS REJECTS HERMAN'S ARTICLE.

Chicago, Ill., June 9, 1908.
 Emil M. Herman,
 649 S. Main St.,
 Los Angeles, Cal.

Dear Comrade: Your matter at hand, and would say that we would be glad to get an article on the Origin and Progress of the Socialist Party of Washington. We have already printed these in regard to other states and Washington certainly has something to say on this subject. But your article has been whatever to do, in my opinion, with this subject, but is merely a record of your own feelings.

The Socialist Party springs out of conditions of the present. Its work is the fighting of Capitalism and the organization of the working class for its own purposes. On all these subjects you say nothing.

Your article would appear intelligently the great mass of the readers of the "Daily Socialist" as unimportant. I do not deny that fights are necessary in the Socialist Party, but in Chicago and are having them now, but if it were to do with the history of Socialism in Chicago, these fights would be incidental and not fundamental.

The fundamental fact is the industrial development of Chicago, the growth of class consciousness among the workers and the consequent rise through the Socialist Party. I hope you will not misunderstand what I say. I do not think you are prejudiced against the Washington movement.

In the first place, I am not prejudiced, and in the second place, I am simply applying to you the same logic and a general rule which has been applied hundreds of times before. It is not possible for you to get on an article for us which is the case the actual growth of the Socialist movement in Washington. If so, we would be glad to use it.

Yours very truly,
 A. M. SIMONS.

HERMAN'S REPLY TO SIMONS.

2505 1/2 Pacific Ave., Tacoma Wash., July 20, '08.

A. M. SIMONS, Washington, D. C.
 Dear Comrade: I write this to acknowledge return of copy which I sent you on Los Angeles on "The Origin and Progress of the Socialist Party of Washington." It reached Los Angeles after I had left and I do not know how it got there. I am a little surprised at your analysis of my article, but I see that you have made a good use of it. I credit you for too much intelligence.

I assumed that you knew that the Socialist Party, as generally known, is the outgrowth of modern industrial development and though it is unnecessary to state that fact. Anyway, your representative did not ask me for an article on the Origin and Growth of the Conditions which produced the Socialist Party, but on "The Origin and Progress of the Socialist Party," and I insist that I treated the matter as well as I could in a brief and concise statement of the facts.

Do not the internal struggles of the Socialist Party reflect the different interests at work trying to control the party membership and make its program fit their particular class interests?

It is not so important that the Socialist Party should remain the uncontrolled representative of the proletariat? Kindly explain why it is not of interest to the party membership and the readers of the Socialist press in general to read the sacrifices and the losses of the Socialist Party of Washington true to its revolutionary purpose? You ask me not to think you are prejudiced against us. It is not necessary for me to think, I know you are prejudiced against us. It is not necessary for me to think, I know you are prejudiced against us. It is not necessary for me to think, I know you are prejudiced against us.

TAFT'S NEW ISSUE

Broughden Brandegee has an "authorized" interview with Taft in "Van Nostrand" for July. The Republican candidate talks here like a real leader. He presents in forcible yet diplomatic style a new and real issue, scarcely touched by Roosevelt or Bryan, yet one which has all the elements of a national campaign.

Taft in this interview speaks with the authority of progressive Capitalist. Capital is nothing if not progressive and aggressive. Capital can never "stand pat" merely. It must advance and conquer, or admit its own defeat.

Capital is Machinery exploiting Labor, ever producing a surplus above wages and above Labor's power to buy. A market must be found for that ever accumulating surplus product.

Taft proclaims his War Cry: A Market for the American Surplus. More explicitly, this compendium Taft, who has seen more of the world than any other American politician, who spent years in the Philippines, announces in so many words: "The United States from Mexico and Hay has declared the 'Open Door' in China; now the United States is pledged to keep that door open in order to sell its goods in that immense market."

If Taft adheres to that policy, if he can force that issue in this campaign, Bryan is utterly lost. He has no answer. No one but the Socialist can.

For see what an Asiatic Market implies, a market consisting of a thousand millions of people, at least ten times the total population of America, an illimitable, undiscovered country, which staggers the imagination.

Every Capitalist in these states will be fired with enthusiasm born of his immediate interest. The Capitalist party platforms, built by the petty politicians who make up their conventions, like the cowards and hypocrites and fools they are, make no mention of the Commercial Crisis and the accompanying hordes of the Unemployed. Ostrich like, they affect to ignore the Hart threat.

Not so Taft, with his world wide vision. He accepts the situation and offers a real solution, the only logical and progressive solution. He will even appeal to the workman. He will say: You men are out of work, because the mills are shut down. The mills are shut down because they cannot sell their goods; very well, I propose to get them the market that nature has provided for any nation, the unreach and undeveloped thousand millions of China and Asia.

Then we shall have renewed prosperity, the mills will reopen and the workers be re-employed. The Pacific will be opened up, the open door will open, the inhabitants of the United States for the past two centuries England captured and led the Commercial Army of Conquest about the shores of the Atlantic and Indian oceans, so now the United States will capture and lead in the new conquest, the Pacific and the world's history will open an almost endless career of capitalistic deification and unending prosperity.

Taft declares our new navy is for this purpose. He intimates most plainly that Japan must be checked, even at the risk of war. At any cost, he says, the "Open Door" must be maintained in China. The international guarantee that the "Open Door" must be maintained. That shall be the Socialist reply to this rational and masterful appeal by the Republican statesman to the Wage Workers for their support!

We shall have to agree with Taft's diagnosis of the economic situation. In fact, Taft has been forced to accept the Socialist interpretation of the Crisis. It is due to Over Production, too many goods to sell, too few markets to sell them in. To have forced the capitalists to accept this explanation of the Panic is itself a Socialist victory.

But how shall we meet the need of employment for the Wage Workers which the new markets will guarantee? We cannot deny the facts. The new markets for the Surplus, two thousand millions per year, Dewey said it was four years ago, and now nearer four thousand millions, these new markets will open the mills and set the workers to work again. There is no denying that. In fact, there is no other possible way for Capital to save itself. It is Capital's only answer to the charge of Incompetence in the management of the World's affairs. Only thus can Capital prevent a universal Starvation Revolt.

The Powers of Government to force your product on those who don't want it. The Socialists propose that you take possession yourselves of those same Powers of Government and use them to displace the Capitalist system: I need and substitute a Home Market, namely, your own starved stomachs and ragged backs and empty homes and pinched lives.

It is up to you, a Foreign Market for Capital or a Home Market for Labor!

Later Note: Taft's speech of acceptance falls down from the bold level taken in the Brandegee interview. He simply reiterates the Roosevelt policies. But our comments are none the less appropriate. Capital will have to come to this project, soon or late.

Wag Replies to "The Red Special" Debts Grand Tour

Cleveland, Ohio, July 15, 1908. The Socialist: Dear Comrades: Allow me just a little space in answer to Comrade Uebermann's letter in your paper dated July 10.

I have asserted and do not regret that Uebermann was secretly in league with Hutchison when going on the grand tour of the Committee of the National Convention. I do not assert that any member of that committee had any connection with Hutchison, but I do assert that a few on the committee were guilty of the regular party in Washington and in a veiled or hidden manner tried to favor Hutchison's faction.

I do not even charge Comrade Uebermann with attempting in a hidden manner, to play into Hutchison's hands. All I claim is that Uebermann (so it seemed to me at the time and I have had no evidence to cause me to change my mind since) does not understand party organization. Uebermann should not shoulder so much of that first paragraph of mine.

Only this convinces me that I am correct. In my mind, I believe I am. Many have insisted that Uebermann claimed at the time of the credentials committee was considering the Washington contest, that he had followed the controversy between me and Hutchison on both sides of the affair, that he thought it best to remain neutral, and that he favored few persons out of the way it would disappear. Upon which he favored a vote to Mr. Hutchison.

Many have insisted that Uebermann claimed at the time of the credentials committee was considering the Washington contest, that he had followed the controversy between me and Hutchison on both sides of the affair, that he thought it best to remain neutral, and that he favored few persons out of the way it would disappear.

Only this convinces me that I am correct. In my mind, I believe I am. IDAHO NOTES

Local Idaho Falls have taken 55 of new constitutions. Local Wallace assessed their membership $100 apiece to raise the local office of Independent to State Convention.

Comrade V. L. Doyle, of Kootenai, writes: "Prospects for the movement are better every day in that neck of the woods."

Comrade James Farrell, of Naples, sends $3.00 donation and writes: "You can count on me for a small donation once a month until after the November election."

Local Athol, G. W. Benjamin, Secs, was reinstated with nine members. Local Mullan (Finland) reports on four new members in June, 55 on roll.

Comrade Thos. L. Bule, of Colorado, was expected to make several trips in Idaho during July, but no reports have reached Headquarters yet.

Local Payette has admitted four new members. Comrade O. M. Evans, of Whitebird, writes: "A small band of us are organized as the RED PARTY to date. Investigate if they do not come from State or National Headquarters."

Local Idaho Falls have taken 55 of new constitutions. Local Wallace assessed their membership $100 apiece to raise the local office of Independent to State Convention.

Comrade J. L. Coon, Sec. of Bonner County, applies for membership at large, and writes: "Enclosed find $10.00 in currency; $3.00 to pay one year's dues and $7.00 to list in the Catalogue. I hope Comrade may his Tribe increase."

Comrade Joseph Krieger, of Killebrew, sends $8.49 in checks and writes: "I am pleased to report that the Comrades of this section of country have taken on new life and action regarding Socialism."

Campaigns subside are beginning to return with funds. Let no sympathizer escape a chance to help at this important moment. Remember something on every list, if but little, remembering "Dimes count."

All points that want a speaker should make their name known at Headquarters. How often can you use one, when best suits your town?

We have hopes of getting Comrade D. Burgess, of Seattle, to visit from August 1st for six weeks or more.

Comrade H. A. Barton, of Coeur d'Alene, our nominee for Congress, has signified his willingness to enter the campaign at once and to accept the nomination for Governor, will be ready to accept the campaign at the end of September. Many others will be ready soon and we must know our needs and we must guess. Let us use one, when best suits your town?

Comrade C. E. Ripley, of Rea, secured 100 instructions and necessary papers so we can organize a local. The local will be organized already of the Socialist Party. However, we wish to have an integral part of the State Organization and have an official standing as Socialists."

Comrade John G. Washburn reports a fairly good meeting in my mind. He is a fair speaker and very much alive. When I had a vacant lot half roofed over and with seats for 1000 people, they came to see the speaker. I spoke from 2 p. m. until nearly 10 o'clock to a very interested audience. Wade R. Parks had spoken in forenoon and was to speak again in evening, but the affair was to end up with a dance. It was a whole-day event devoted to the propagation of Socialism. If the organized Socialists can make an affair of this kind, the quantities increase that it was, something will be doing when they start the local. I expect to return in 1913 and help get the local started in running order. The local will be a tremendous Socialism sentiment all over Northern Idaho, the task is to get it crystallized."

Kier Hardie on Debts

Keir Hardie writes to National Secretary Barnes: "Needless to say I most cordially wish success to Comrade Debts and the Party generally."

"I wish to see the Party fighting for its own Party, fighting for it, upon all occasions, conditions will be good for us."

"I wish through the efforts and influence of the Labor Party, complete protection for Trades Unions has been secured. No interfering class has its own Party, fighting for it, upon all occasions, conditions will be good for us."
