SAINT PAUL.

CITY DRIFT.

Regular meeting of the assembly tonight.

The festival at St. Patrick's church will be continued tonight.

A still alarm of fire yesterday afternoon was caused by a small fire in the basement of the building at 376 Jackson street.

Mike and John Hurley, who robbed Dr. Wheaton's house, were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Cory.

The first annual printers' picnic, embracing St. Paul and Minneapolis, will be held at Chisago lakes, Sunday, July 31.

Thomas Benson, a deserter, was arrested by Officer Cary yesterday afternoon, and last evening was taken to Fort Snelling.

The Northwestern Twine and Cordage company was another institution incorporated yesterday. The capital stock is $250,000.

The Henderson Mountain Mining and Milling company filed articles of incorporation yesterday. The capital of the new company is $100,000.

Judge Alonzo J. Edgerton, who has been assisting in holding the federal courts here, left yesterday for Sioux Falls, to hold a term of court there.

The assembly committee on police met last evening, and will report in favor of the confirmation of the appointments to the police force made by the mayor.

The case of T. W. Cooper, charged with selling liquors to minors, the complaining witnesses being two young girls, had his case continued until this morning.

An examination for license to practice law will be held by the state board in the senate chamber of the capitol Tuesday, August 2. There will be seventeen applicants.

In the case of Archibald McLary against The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, tried in the United States circuit court, the jury disagreed and was discharged.

George Weathers, colored, employed as a deck hand on a river boat, had his foot crushed while making a landing at the lower levee. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital.

The state board of examiners in law will hold a regular examination of candidates for admission to the bar of the state at the capitol next Tuesday. There are seventeen applicants.

Michael Flynn, charged with indecent assault on a young lad named Steinberg, had a preliminary examination in the police court yesterday. The defendant was held to the grand jury.

The Buffalo Land and Exploring Company of Duluth filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state yesterday. The capital stock is $125,000, and the incorporators are mostly residents of Duluth.

M. O. Knudson, who claims to be a delegate to the Republican state convention, was arrested last night for drunkenness. Knudson says he represents Lincoln county, and is for Knute first, last and all the time.

The new electric line to White Bear ran all day yesterday without losing a trip. But one small washout occurred on the entire line of road. Transfers were made in the early morning, but the whole length of track was in perfect condition by noon, and all cars ran on regular time.

Secretary Hart, of the state board of charities and corrections, yesterday issued his report of the number of inhabitants of poor houses in Minnesota during the month of June. During that month this year there were 331 inmates. In 1891 there were 338, and in 1890, 310 in the same month.

The body of a ten-year-old boy was found in the river near the Omaha bridge yesterday morning. The remains were supposed to be a boy drowned in Minneapolis several days ago. Last night an undertaker came down from Minneapolis, but after viewing the body said it was not the one he was sent for.

Messrs. W. C. Edgar, C. McC. Reeve and E. J. Phelps, commissioners appointed by Gov. Merriam to distribute Minnesota's contribution to the famine-stricken Russians, have submitted an exhaustive report of their mission. It shows every pound of flour received—1,553,504 pounds—where distributed and by whom received. The report speaks highly of the treatment accorded the committee in Russia, and conveys the personal gratitude of the czarowitch.

LAWLER TO THE VAN.

The Brilliant Young Hustler Prominently Named for Governor.

His Name Will Be Brought Before Today's Ramsey Convention.

A Reduction of Over $50,000 Recommended in School Expense.

Final Determination of the Committee Relative to the Market.

At 10 o'clock this morning, at Market hall, the Democrats of Ramsey county will meet in convention to select delegates to the state convention of Aug. 3 and the district convention of Aug. 18. Primary elections were held last evening in the several wards and country polling places, and as there were no contests they were unusually quiet, with a light vote. The solitary contest of the city, if it could be dignified by that name, was in the Fourth ward, where Henry Fuller, chairman of the county committee, appeared with a ticket. Another one had been made up by ex-Ald. P. T. Kavanagh and a number of Democrats who took the position that Mr. Fuller's conduct in the city campaign last spring had placed him outside the party lines. Both tickets were headed by Ald. O. O. Cullen, and there were a number of other names duplicated. The opposition appeared in such numbers that Mr. Fuller soon withdrew and the anti-Fuller ticket was chosen by 284 to 5. It was a straight, plain knock-out for Mr. Fuller, and was intended by the leaders to show that a member of the Democratic county committee must either support the party tickets or get out.

D. W. LAWLER.

The primaries in the Fifth ward were as quiet as a meeting of delegates to a deaf and dumb convention. There was only one ticket in the field, and that one did not receive many votes, most of the citizens showing an indisposition to vote when tickets were handed them. The fact that there were no cars running and everybody had to hoof it should have brought out quite a large vote in this district, which is populated almost entirely by the working classes, but the general apathy seemed to be due to the fact that there were too many familiar names, who had served so often before on the ticket, and that no opposition had been developed. The same may be said of the other wards, and it is useless to mention them in detail. Following is the list of delegates elected:

The Delegates.

First Ward—M. Mullane, Daniel Aberle, Gilbert Olsen, James Forrestal, William Johnson, L. Fabey, C. O. Malstrom, John Norman, P. R. McDonald, J. P. Peterson and H. H. Campbell.

Second—E. C. Starkey, Harry Caldwell, Jacob Beck, Benn Davis, P. Kelly Jr., William Cobden, William Mullican, Emil Pearl, Peter Ehrmantraut, Edward Camen, Joseph Spiel, L. E. Reed, James P. Murnane, Charles H. Gates, Henry O'Connor.

Third—Patrick O'Brien, John F. Smith, August Nilsson, Joseph Ehrmantraut, James P. Healy, John Heber, Andrew Dahlquist, J. A. Reed and C. L. Grant.

Fourth—O. O. Cullen, Peter Esch, P. T. Kavanagh, William Christian, Thomas Grace Jr., Ed Murphy, Ed Stahlman, M. J. Strouse, Marx Costello, James Flannigan, James O'Brien, James A. Nowell, John W. Frost, Sig. Small, J. G. Donnelly, J. H Delaney, W. W. Clark, A. Meisen.

Fifth—William Banholzer, J. B. Ives, W. M. Campbell, C. J. Dornbiden, M. Melvin, C. D. O'Brien, Charles Ringwald, James H. Burns, H. L. Schade, Patrick Eagan, E. Poorloney, M. Heim, J. F. O'Brien, H. Harrity, Joe Wagener, P. Eiswirth, B. Ryan, E. Murnane, J. Foos.

Seventh—W. P. Murray, J. J. McCafferty, William G. Robertson, F. W. M. Cutcheon, William Rhodes, P. A. Lavallee, Alfred E. Boyeson.

Eighth—Walter Butler, Nicholas Pothen, Cary L. Warren, William Rodger, George Thill, Charles Friend, Thomas Carey, Emil Walther, John Hickey, John Braudl, Louis Poferl, A. M. Matz, Joseph Jarosz, George H. Allen, John J. Ryder, Peter Metzdorff, Herman Terlinde, B. P. Miller, William Folsom, George Umland, Walter Gibbons, George Walsh.

Tenth—L. J. Dobner, C. J. Buell, A. M. Woodward.

No primaries were reported in the other wards.

Lawler for Governor.

Several of the delegate tickets bore the legend, "For Governor—Dan W. Lawler," and the sentiment was general about the polling places that the brilliant young hustler would make a rattling candidate and conduct an enthusiastic campaign. Mr. Lawler was not visible last evening, and his ideas and intentions were not announced, but it is evident there is a strong latent feeling in favor of his nomination in Ramsey county, and that sentiment will find expression in today's convention. It seems certain that if his consent can be secured, Ramsey county will be solid and enthusiastic for his candidacy.

The Committee Thinks School Expenses Excessive to That Extent.

But three members of the joint committee on board of education expenses attended the sessions yesterday. The three present at the morning and afternoon sessions were Ald. Hickman and Cullen and Assemblyman Johnson. The county auditor reported the state tax available would be in round numbers about $185,000, and the two-mill tax levied by the city for school purposes on a valuation of $124,000,000 would realize about $248,000, which would give a total available for school purposes of $432,000.

The board had asked for $44,000 for supplies, but the committee figured that this could be cut $6,000 without injury, and cut it accordingly, leaving $55,000 for supplies. Deducting this from the total it left $397,000 available for salaries. The board had asked for $445,000 for salaries, so a reduction of $48,000 was necessary. Taking $5,000 off the salaries of janitors and officers, there was a cut of $43,000 necessary on the teachers' salaries.

The kindergarten supplies, amounting to $2,000, were next cut off, Judge Hickman alone voting no. Five hundred dollars was taken off from the sewing and cooking school estimate and added to the whole. By doing away with the kindergarten salaries, amounting to $16,000, and manual training salaries, amounting to $4,460, the board will be compelled to reduce the salaries of teachers employed only $22,610.

In discussing the apportionment of salaries it was found that of the 444 teachers 156 get more in the aggregate than the remaining 288.

It was thought the cut should be made only on teachers who received salaries of $800 or more, and that no reduction be made on those receiving less than that amount.

The question of providing for the repairs on school buildings was next considered. The board of education did not include the $25,000 which they thought was needed for this purpose in their estimate of $486,070. The $25,000 the board said should be paid from the general fund. This the committee thought could not be done under their construction of the law, and the matter was referred to the city attorney for an opinion.

At the afternoon session the city attorney said the Bell charter provided for the two-mill levy for the maintenance of the schools and the payment of salaries. Another provision allows half a mill levy for the erection of new buildings or for the creating of a fund for the purpose. The opinion of this official was that the amount derived from the ½-mill levy could not be used for repairs, but only for the erection of new buildings.

The members of the committee figured und figured and then figured, and as a result of their work, will report to the council an ordinance recommending the reduction in the total expenses of $53,150. The knife, as applied by the committee, is in the following places:

Abolishment of Kindergarten	$1,600
Manual training school	4,460
Extra teachers' fund	10,090
Ten per cent reduction in salaries of teachers who receive over $800 per year	17,690
Reduction in contingent fund, superintendent's, secretary's and janitors' salaries and other incidentals	5,000
Total	$53,150

Ald. Cullen said the committee could not dictate to the board the manner in which the cut should be made, but had to confine itself to the lump sum.

The board reported $16,500 wanted as a fund from which to pay extra teachers. This amount was cut to $6,500, Mr. Johnson contending that this amount was not for salaries actually expended, but as a kind of contingent fund.

The total reduction recommended by the committee will bring the expenditures inside of the two mills levy, which was what the committee decided was the best thing to do considering the present cries for a reduction in taxes from property owners.

Ald. Hickman will prepare an elaborate report for presentation to the assembly meeting tonight.

WILL REMAIN OPEN.

A Council Committee and the Old Market.

The joint committee on public markets held an executive and also a public session yesterday afternoon. At the executive session a large sheet of figures from the comptroller's office was presented by Mr. Reardon. The figures showed the receipts and expenditures of the market house, and Mr. Reardon, when asked, said they were not for publication. The open session was the "same old pie," the parties interested in the keeping open of the market house arguing that it was a public necessity that the place be kept open.

Mr. Reardon said he had a partial report of the expenditures and receipts, and the figures showed a net loss of $26,000 since 1880, without the cost of fuel and gas being counted, which would certainly be from fifteen to twenty thousand more, during that time. The receipts were, according to his figures, $1,759.54 in 1880; $2,781.90 in 1881; $3,466.60 in 1882; $4,431.20 in 1883; $8,457 in 1884; $7,600.91 in 1885; $11,766.72 in 1887; $11,597.80 in 1888; $14,403.20 in 1889; $9,850 in 1890; and $9,744.12 in 1891. The last year, he said, the expenses and receipts had just about evened up. No account of the amount expended in repairs, since 1885, could be obtained.

Henry Haas said, while the matter of expense was being considered, he had a word or two to say. The market house ought not to be considered a speculation any more than the city hall or parks. The place should be gutted and arranged so as to be more accessible, and while it might not pay from a financial standpoint, it would certainly be better for the interests of public health. The vegetable markets, he claimed, should all be centralized, and in that way the public would get much better and fresher garden truck. From a sanitary point of view, the city should certainly keep the market at the place now used as such, and not have six or eight markets in different parts of the city. The vacation of the market also made it bad for the city, as shippers would not run from one place to the other, but would go to Minneapolis to make purchases. St. Paul, at one time, he said, was given a deal of advertising by having such a fine public market, but the establishment of private markets in various parts of the city had spoiled all this. He thought it the duty of the city to do away with the halls and speculative portions of the building and give the public a good market house.

Mr. Mitsch said a market master could be hired to do all the work of a market master proper for $50 per month. The halls and side show part of the building could be done away with. If the floor were lowered and the place fixed up the rents could be doubled and the building made to pay. Unless this were done the market gardeners would go to Minneapolis instead of coming to St. Paul.

Health Officer McManus said, when he was market master from 1870 to 1882, the farmers used to come from points ten miles the other side of Minneapolis to the market here, and he knew the place could be made to pay.

Mr. Reardon looked over his tally sheet and said the receipts under the management of McManus did not indicate the place had run much ahead.

McManus explained that during the last years of his administration the building was used as the meeting place for the legislature, and this should be taken into consideration. He also received but $500 a year salary for the work.

Mr. Lightner said it was a question whether the location was the place for the market, and even if it was, which he doubted, the building was certainly not a proper one. This fact was admitted by the tenants themselves. The situation of the market was the only thing the committee had to deal with.

Mr. McManus said the building was not erected on good plans in the first place. At the time the plans were first being considered, he told the aldermen they were making a mistake, but no attention was paid to his ideas. His plan now was to tear down the market sheds and use the space at the north of the building for farmers' teams. Several of the tenants agreed to double the amounts now paid for rents if the floor were lowered and the place fixed up.

The committee will recommend to the assembly that the place be kept open, but that Seventh, Wabasha and St. Peter streets be not used as a standing place for teams, and that the sidewalks also be kept clear of market stands. This will be recommended on the understanding that at the coming session of the legislature some action will be taken to sell the property and erect a public market at some other point.

Weather in August.

The weather bureau has issued data showing the record of observations for August during a period of twenty-one years. The mean or normal temperature during these months was 69. The warmest August was that of 1881, with an average of 72.9; the coldest August, that of 1885 and 1891, with an average of 65. The highest temperature during any August was 98, on Aug. 13, 1880. The lowest temperature during any August was 40, on Aug. 28, 1891. The average precipitation in August during the twenty-one years was 3.42 inches. The greatest monthly precipitation was 8.74 inches in 1875, and the least monthly precipitation 1.22 inches in 1888. This report has been published by the weather bureau, with the belief that the facts thus set forth will prove of interest to the public, as well as the special student, showing, as they do, the average and extreme conditions of the more important meterological elements and the range within which such variations may be expected to keep during any corresponding month.

CAME AROUND FINALLY.

Park Custodians Will Be Confirmed—Street Affairs.

Messrs. Reardon, Johnson, Sandell and Van Slyke attended the meeting of the committee on streets from the assembly last night. The communication from the park board asked that the four custodians and three park policemen appointed by the board, which the old council refused to approve, be confirmed. Mr. Johnson said as he understood it the men were not confirmed at the time the others were because they had been "crooked" during the election. Mr. Van Slyke was in favor of having the custodians and park policemen confirmed. Mr. Reardon said Mr. Aberle, of the park board, had told him that there was really no need for the policemen, but Mr. Peisch had claimed there was a need for them. His own opinion was that they were only ornaments. The committee decided to recommend the confirmation of R. Ralph, Martin Devine, Charles Lehman and J. J. Reiling, custodians, and that the park policemen, Edward Barming, D. O. Toole and M. O'Brien, receive pay up to August 1, but not after that date. In 1887 the council ordered the extending of Pacific street between Hester and Bock streets. A portion of the property to be used was lot 2, block 3, Suburban Hills addition. It was owned by C. E. Dickerman, who was awarded $50 damages. Dickerman appealed to the courts and was allowed $800 damages, which, with the costs, now amounts to $1,100. The board of public works say $50 is all the property was damaged, and ask for the abandonment of all proceedings in the matter. The committee thought the street should be opened, and it might be just as well to go on with the proceedings now. The matter was referred to the city engineer to prepare a plat of the street and property in question.

BIG HORSE EXHIBIT

Promised for the State Fair Show.

Col. Clarke Chambers, of Owatonna, was in St. Paul yesterday and is very enthusiastic over the bright prospects for a big exhibit in the horse department at the state fair. The colonel is a noted hustler and has been among the leading horse owners and breeders of the state for the purpose of urging them to come to Hamline with their stock this fall. He has already been assured of a large number of entries and every mail brings news of additional exhibits. The last is an application from the Blue Ribbon stud, of Iowa, owned by Fields Bros., for thirty stalls in the stables for their blooded draft horses. Col. Chambers states that these heavy horses are improving in quality every year by the importation from across the ocean of thoroughbred sires and dams, and especially in the Clydes and Percherons.

C. N. Cosgrove, of Le Seur, was with Col. Chambers, and stated that he would show his herd of Hereford cattle, and that much interest was being taken in the fair in his section of the state, and that cattle owners generally would come to the fair with their stock.

For Which Joseph Milligan Claims Big Damages.

There is but one jury case on the calendar of the United States court to be disposed of before the vacation, and it is now on trial. It is the personal injury case of Joseph Milligan against The Northern Pacific Railroad Company. Milligan was a switchman in the Minneapolis yards. In January last, while attempting to couple cars, he stumbled in a shallow ditch, and, loosing his balance, his hand slipped between the bumpers and was crushed. He asks for $5,300, and alleges that it was wrong for the ditch to be there.

Gone to His Final Home.

The last sad rites of the church and the last earthly farewell were given to the remains of John E. Ingles, yesterday afternoon, at the residence on Exchange street and at the side of the grave at Oakland cemetery by Rev. Andrews, rector of Christ's church, and many of the friends of the deceased. The services were simple but impressive to one of the members of the universal church laid to his final rest. The pall-bearers were Frank B. Moore, George Colgrave, Emil Geist, J. K. Humphrey, E. C. Ives and William Koch.
