

organisation, whose executive head outside the jurisdiction of this country and that to recognise it in their name would be to place themselves at the mercy of an organisation who can cripple their business by ordering strikes in their mines in order to thwart the interests of people in a foreign country.

